Participation part of successful year

The formula for a successful school year involves both academic achievement as well as participation in school related activities. Student life revolves around sports events and social functions in addition to career oriented hobbies and projects. However, part of the enjoyment comes from doing these things as a group, functioning as a unit to grow mentally, physically and socially into young, responsible citizens. A successful life hinges on this kind of school experience.

As our country embarks on its third century, we pause to consider its strong points. The longest living democracy in the history of the world; we stand unchallenged as a global power. Our standard of living and general education are the highest in the world. Highly developed technology allowed us to send the first man to the moon and gave us countless medical and social benefits. But where have we really gone?

One room school houses have been replaced by vast, expensive centers of education. They educate, recreate and then celebrate sending hundreds of thousands of students each year into a society supposedly prepared for their role as citizens. But in the mass of computers, countless lists of number-coded names and seemingly endless requirements and tests, something is lost. The finished product is not always a fully-functioning, ready-made human being prepared for an adult life. The learning machine, more often than we like to admit, allows some rejects to slip out.

So what of the opening statement? Is there really a formula for a successful school year? If so, does it explain the concept of unity in terms of modern education? And most important, is it actually applicable or realistic for today's students?

It is a dream, partially realized and partially wished-for. There is unity and there is learning. But what about the forgotten students who never discover the meaning of involvement or education? They are citizens too. They will make up a substantial part of our society in the next generation.

The school year is not only a time of academic achievement, but a period in which each student must grow closer to his goal in life. It is a time when we must learn to function as human beings, relating to each other and helping each other. It is a period that should prepare us for life as it is and allow us to experience it. It is a time when we must practice unity not for some, but for all.

Styles of '76 jeans, boots in Casual and comfortable was the watchword in the styles worn by Southeast students in '76. Influences from the past were noticeable, yet the year presented a style all its own.

Colors were dark, rustic and natural. Straw bags and Indian purses were carried by the girls.

Jeans and jewelry were popular with both guys and gals. Pre-washed styles, patchwork and zipper decorated jeans were everyday attire for many.

Puka shells from Hawaii and California, turquoise, liquid silver and clay beads were worn by both males and females.

Big smock tops tied with belts topped both skirts and jeans. Making the look more casual were the knee-high, buckskin frye boots. The new length skirts with platforms or wedgies topped by heavy sweaters were a common sight.

For guys, western and rugby shirts were the thing with the ever popular faded jeans. Hiking boots were often seen. Going along with the western influence were cowboy hats, even gold and white ones.

Jeeps have become the hottest vehicle both on and off campus. Yet sports cars retained their standing and image. The low mileage factor made small cars economical.

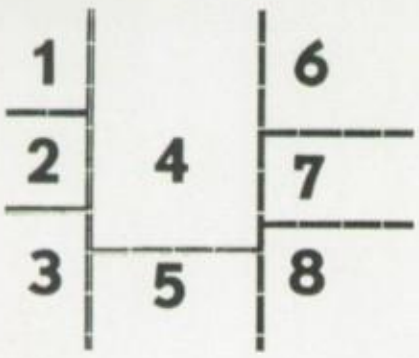
1. Displaying the most sought after sports cars and off road vehicles are Albert Crouse, Rhonda Magness, and Tom Morris. 2. Indian jewelry made of turquoise, coral, and fine silver are worn by both sexes. Holly Fountain models some of the more popular pieces. 3. Typical of the dress of Southeast students, are fashions worn by Bob Wasson and Becky Strehle at the Sedgwick County Zoo. 4. A truck proves valuable for carrying a group of senior guys. 5. Many students hold part-time jobs such as the one in which Vickie Davis is a cashier.

Festivities: customs arise in 1975

Horns echoing . . . yellow and white streamers . . . headlights glaring . . . 107 cars in a row . . . police escorts . . . students hanging from car windows . . .

All were visible during the first organized honk parade preceding the Homecoming game against East High Oct. 17. Extremely popular with the students, the parade marked the beginning of a tradition. Although floats were excluded from the festivities, this did not appear to limit involvement. Crowds of students swarmed into Cessna Stadium to watch the Golden Buffs crush the Aces 41-0, and to observe the crowning of Kristen Olander as the 1975 Homecoming Queen, during half-time. Her escort, senior Jack Ritchie, watched the crowning as the 1974 queen, Sharon Maurer, presented her with the traditional crown, roses and hugs.

Concluding the activities was the Oct. 18 Homecoming Dance at the Beech Activity Center. About 300 students attended, with the naming of the 1975 Homecoming King, Jim Johnson, highlighting the evening. Other candidates for king included Rick Bessette, Mike Bradley, Steve Hobus, Tracy Levy, Greg Lovendahl, Toby Paige and Ronr Reynolds.



1. Kristen Olander braves the tense moments preceding the announcement of royalty. 2. Serving as crown bearer and flower bearer, Patrick and Erin Davie, children of Coach and Mrs. Jim Davie, have doubts as to the excitement of the occasion. 3. Homecoming King Jim Johnson. 4. Jubliant at her crowning, Kristen Olander and escort Jack Ritchie exchange smiles as the ceremonies conclude. 5. Trucks carry spirit groups in the honk parade in which over 100 cars participated. 6. Drama cast performs 'Straw Hat'

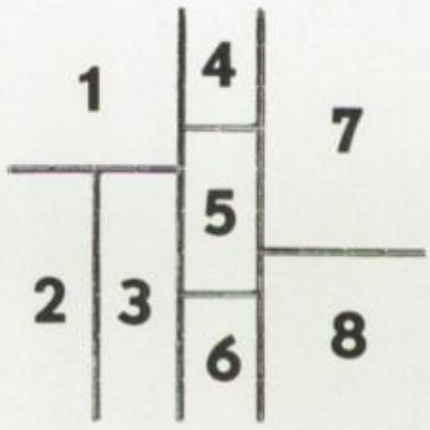
Under the direction of Mr. David Omar, the Southeast Drama Department presented 'The Italian Straw Hat' November 20 and 22 in the school's auditorium.

The play was culled by Omar and the classes because of its fun and humor. Since 'Straw Hat' is a French farce, actions were exaggerated to the point of being ridiculous. Centered around the mishaps of an engaged man, the wedding is delayed when his horse eats a lady's straw hat. In the process of replacing the hat, he manages to have an affair, proposes to another girl, and meets his ex-fiance.

The cast was selected from the three drama classes. Organization of committees to make props, design costumes and construct sets was also an important deed. Over 30 students alone composed the cast, each member putting in 15 to 20 hours per week.

"High school drama is an educational theater, we are teaching and using young and energetic actors, because of that I felt the play was a great success," commented Omar.



1. Guest await the start of the wedding procession. Left to right- Kerry Thomas, Sarah Attwater, Drew Denning, Lisa Otterness, Lesa Miller, Brent Giessman and Tony Trevino. 2. Gordon Grubbs (Tardiveau) and Wesley Calhoun (Felix) disagree about whether Tardiveau will have to take the night watch. 3. Kerry Thomas takes time to rest and watch the practice session. 4. Learning of the Marriage of his cousin to another man, Kerry Thomas (Bobby) becomes upset. 6. At the millinery shop, Tony Trevino (Vezinet) inquires as to the whereabouts of the wedding. 7. Kathy Smith (Clara) listens to Chuck Dooms (Fadinard) who later leaves her for another woman. 8. Bob Wasson (Nonacourt) tells Tardiveau about his family name as Bobby and Alison Tracy (Helen) listen.

O.S.O.M., Spirit Week alleviate winter blahs

Open Season On Males, or better known around school as O.S.O.M., was the highlight event for many Southeast women this year. It was their chance to ask out their favorite guy for a date.

Climaxing the week was the O.S.O.M. dance held Saturday, Jan. 26, at the Regal Inn, downtown. Students danced to disco music played by Dave Baur, a disc-jockey from a local radio station. "I thought the dance was really great. It was better dancing to disco music than a sorry band," siad Alysa Perry, junior.

Activities during the O.S.O.M. week included carnation sales and an auction which consisted of a few Southeast males.

"I felt the dance went over big. This was the first dance of its kind at Southeast. I just think students didn't get that involved during the week's activities," said senior Jolene Page, O.S.O.M. chairman.

Each year a week is set aside for a battle between the classes—to see who comes up with the most spirit. The '76 Spirit Week took place Feb. 17-Feb. 20.

Using the colors of the flag honoring America's Bicentennial, each class was assigned either red, white or blue. On the day appointed, the classes decorated halls and wore their color. For the second year in a row, the class of '77 was selected by the faculty as the spirit winners.

Later in the week, Brad Moser, senior candidate for Ugly Man, received the most applause earning him the honor. Representatives for the junior and sophomore classes were Tom Scholler and Kirt Willcut, respectively.

1. Senior Kristen Olander and date Chris Gordon enjoy a coke between dances. 2. Juniors Dawn Hart and Lynda Heckelmann use red crepe paper to cover lights in their hall which was from C and Main to the office. 3. Liz Meyers, junior, and date Pat Gore, senior, join the sitting crowd during the dance. 4. Senior class members go as far as decorating even a bathroom door. 5. Dress for the dance was casual, as a group of juniors indicate. 6. Signs such as this one adorn the winning hall. 7. Brenda Vossburg, junior, takes time out to laugh while decorating the winning hall for spirit week. 8. Dressed as cheerleaders for the Powder-Puff basketball game between the junior and senior women, a group of senior men presented their well-practiced cheers. 9. Junior, Alicia Rizer and Debbie Decker attempt to block Elaine Gunzelman, senior, from passing the ball to teammates.

Sweetheart honors winter athletics

Despite scheduling difficulties, the annual Sweetheart Dance was held Sat. Feb. 21, in the Gold Room of the Holiday Inn Plaza.

Senior Dan Wilborn was crowned Sweetheart King. He was selected by members of the girls' winter sports teams, Banner Girls, Cheerleaders and Pom Pon Girls. Seven others were up for the honor. They were first runner-up Kelly Martin, second runner-up Mark Boswell, Marshall Christmann, Dudley Rutherford, Doug Smith Mike Sowders and Tom Werth.

During the half-time ceremonies of the Southeast-East game Friday night, Cindy Cushing was crowned Sweetheart Queen. Members of the basketball, gymnastics, wrestling, and swim teams chose the candidates. Runners-up were Stacy Crawford and Jolene Page. Others up for the honor were Kim Gatz, Charmaine Henderson, Lea Johnson, Devon Menehan and Christie Walsh.

Special Ed encourages competency

After five years of full-time existence, the Program for the Hearing impaired has shaken off its stigma and deaf students are accepted as part of Southeast. These students are now able to attend regular classes with the assistance of a signing interpreter.

"We're fortunate here at Southeast because the faculty and administration are very willing to help," said Mr. Don Nichols, program head.

The program was designed to help the student develop his full capabilities. Individual help in the areas of speech, vocabulary, lipreading, and social and survival skills are provided. Five of the students, who come from all parts of Wichita, are enrolled at the Wichita Area Vocational-Technical School.

"We believe in the Total Education Philosophy: total communication between all, either with signing, speech, lipreading or auditory training," said Mr. Nichols.

In addition, the program has a a half-time teacher Mrs. Barbara Adkins and a tutor-interpreter Mrs. Billie McDavitt.

In February, enrollment begins for the upcoming year. Teachers and courses must be carefully considered so that a student can be fit into the situation where he will do his best.

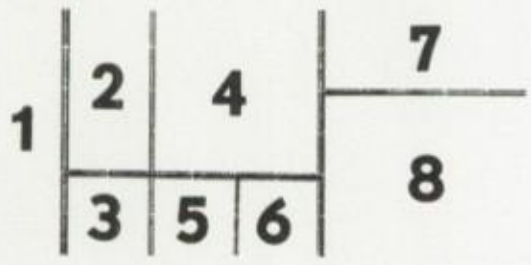
Second semester a Sign Language Club was organized mostly of students enrolled in the class.

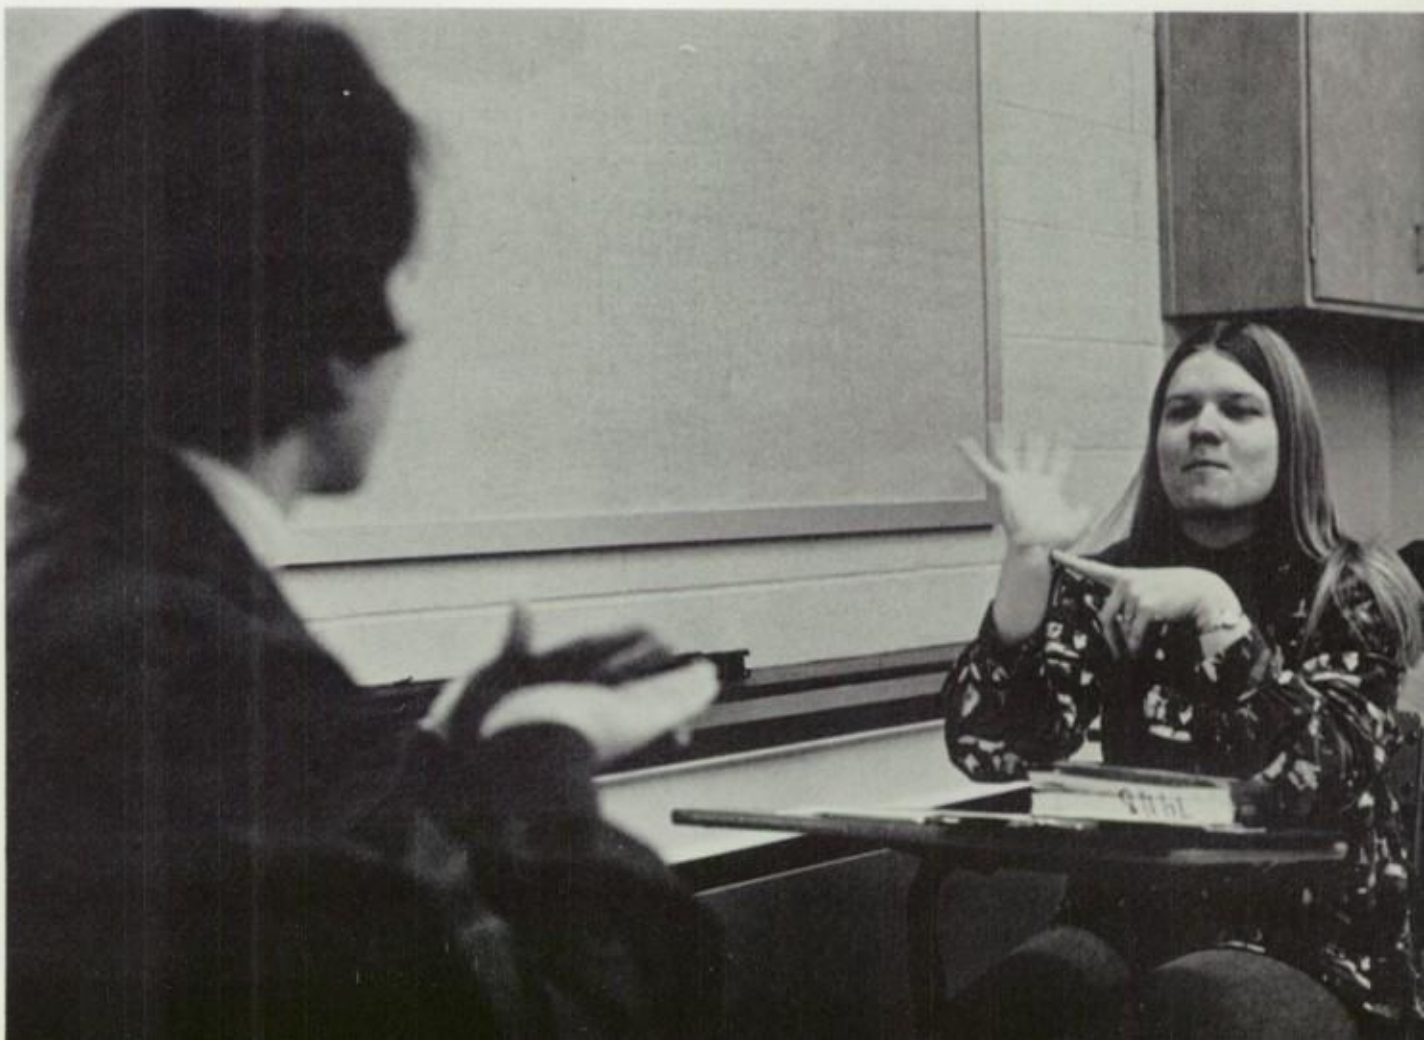
Also functioning under the Special Education Program is the class for the Educable Mentally Handicapped.

During the day, the students receive academic training in English, math, science and social studies. In addition, the students attend regular classes and are encouraged to work with their hands in areas such as ceramics and sewing.

"The program allows the students to achieve at their own rate. There are not many of them at the same level. Where most kids are bored or struggle to keep up, these can progress at their own speed," said Miss Nadine Williams, teacher.



1. Mr. Don Nichols, head of the Hearing Impaired Program, also instructs a Sign Language class. 2. Madeleine Aaron uses sign language to communicate during U.S. History. 3. Herman Coleman takes break from his academics which are a part of EMH class. 4. To interpret to deaf students in regular classes is the job of Mrs. Billie McDavitt. 5. Janice Williams practices signals during class. 6. Leigh Ann West learns to interact with the deaf by learning their language. 7. Arla Jameson, Delaria Parish and Dwain Partlow work in the EMH kitchen where they learn to prepare various foods. 8. Mrs. McDavitt signs to Cheryl Mitchell during a lecture.



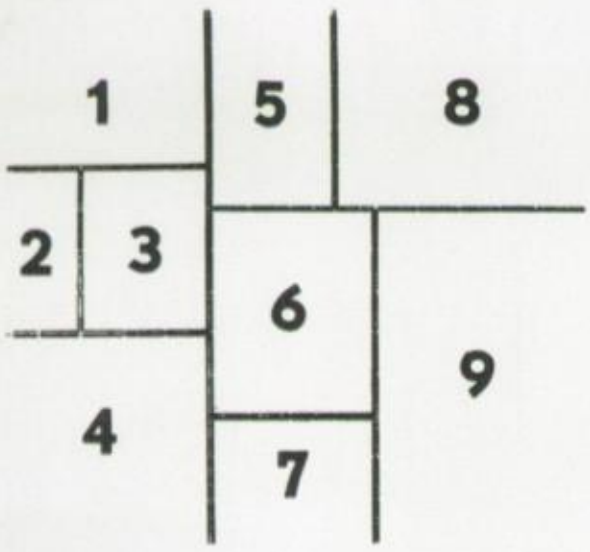
'Fantasticks': few props, unique stage

"The Fantasticks" was directed by Mr. David Omar, Mr. Vernon Nicholson and Mr. Steve Luttrell.

The leading parts were played by Carol Holstead, senior, and Pete Presson, junior. They portrayed Luisa and Matt, the young lovers. Their fathers were played by Mark Vandeventer, senior, and Kerry Thomas, sophomore.

This sophisticated story of innocence centers on a boy and girl who fall in love despite being separated by a wall that their seemingly hostile fathers had put up. Their fathers, who in reality wanted the match, then had the problem of finding a way in which their pretended objections could appear to be overcome.

It is at this point that the fathers hire El Gallo, a professional bandit played by senior Don Ziegler, to abduct Luisa. In reality, El Gallo and and his accomplices, played by junior Brent Giessmann and sophomore Jim Shaw, are instructed to let Matt kill them all and save Luisa. The plan backfires, however, when Matt discovers the fathers' plot.



1. Mark Vandeventer, senior, and Kerry Thomas, sophomore, sing about the managing of their children. 2. Junior Pete Presson, as Matt, collapses after his duel with the bandits. 3. Gordon Grubbs, junior, provides musical accompaniment for the play. 4. Seniors Don Ziegler and Carol Holsted rehearse a scene together. 5. Sophomore Jim Shaw, as Mortimer, exhibits his ability to "die". 6. Brent Giessman, junior, addresses the audience during the abduction. 7. Don Ziegler, as El Gallo, narrarates a segment of the play. 8. Lisa Otterness, junior, practices her part as the mute. 9. Matt and Luisa discuss their future plans.

Undefeated, Buffs sweep City League

The momentum began to mount as Southeast's Football Team won game after game. The City League championship loomed closer once again as the Golden Buffaloes assembled an undefeated season.

The Buffs were head and shoulders above their City League opponents with the first contest a 34-13 decision over Kapaun-Mt. Carmel. Although most of the scores were lopsided, none of the teams were pushovers. Surviving their biggest scare, the Buffs came from behind to defeat the Salina Central Mustangs 28-27.

Using a rugged defense to shut down foes, the team gave up only 46 points during regular season competition en route to breaking the City record for total defense.

"The defense had a tremondous year and showed tremendous pride. When you get right down to it, pride and pursuit were the keys to success," said Defensive Coach Bruce DeHaven.

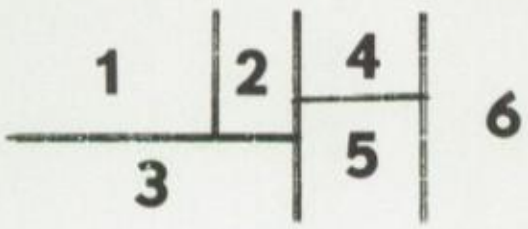
Spearheading the defense were seniors Steve Hobus, Toby Paige and Mike McClellan. Hobus and Paige served as team co-captains.



1. Teammates Tracy Levy (44) and Callan Ammons (62) lead punting specialist Tom Utter (26) off the field after receiving minor injuries. 2. Pre-game excitement starts the adrenalin streaming in the huddle. 3. Varsity Football Squad. Bottom row left to right- Tom Frye, Greg Lovendahl, Jeff Cohlmia, Albert Crouse, Tim Easter, Keith Hudson, Callan Ammons, Brad Moser, Mike Bradley, Brian Landeck, Terry Payne, Nathan Becoat, Rick Bessette, Chris S. Johnson, Bruce Kitchen, Jim Johnson. Middle row- Chris Johnson, Brad Vickery, Jeff Lehman, Mike McClellan, O. B. Bohanon, Charles Sparks, Kent White, Mike Durant, Tracy Levy, Steve Hobus, Horace Pridgett, Ronn Reynolds, Toby Paige, Tom Morris, Richard Hite, Brent Smith, Gary Mohr, Chris Mar, Brent Villarreal, Darrell Littleton. Back row- Doug Hoppock, Milt Thompson, Maurice Moore, Mark Kendall, Ron Hunter, Bill Stout, Fred Crabtree, Floyd Smith, Tom Scholler, Mike Miller, Kevin Potucek, Ken Washington, Jim Presley, Dan Goevert, David Runion, John McCroskey, David Hanning, Bill Ownby, Jim Terrill, Joe Solomon, Tom Utter, Kent McCray, Phillips. 4. Throwing the blocks, Mike Bradley (58) and Jim Johnson (38) make way for sensation Tracy Levy (44) as he chalks up the yardage. 5. Charles Sparks (21) sprints around the end for a touchdown while Mark Kendall (35) takes care of the interference. 6. Half-time in the locker room: Criticism and praise, as the players rest and coaches John Dawkins, Bruce DeHaven, Harold Brandenburg and Jim Davie down colas.

Buffs fall at 5-A State championship

In any athletic contest, the team who makes the fewest mistakes will most likely come out on top. Shawnee Mission South took advantage of Southeast's late game errors to nip the Buffs, 14-7, in the State Championship game at Cessna Stadium.

First-half action told the story as Shawnee Mission quarterback Tom Rystrom found gaping holes in the normally tight Southeast defense while he drove his team to two scores.

"Rystrom is the one that really hurt us. We didn't have our defense set up to stop the quarterback," said Coach Jim Davie.

The game started like earlier Buff victories when running back Tracy Levy scored from eight yards out, but that was all the offense could manage.

Coach DeHaven summarized the game saying, "We broke down defensively and offensively two more plays than they did. That was the difference."

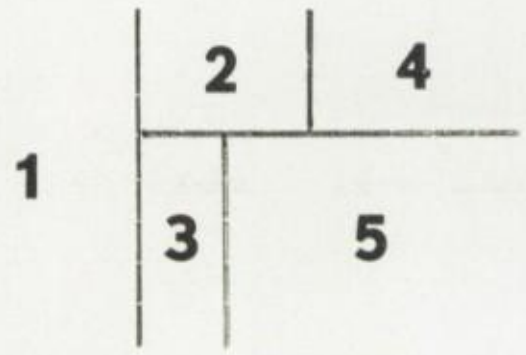
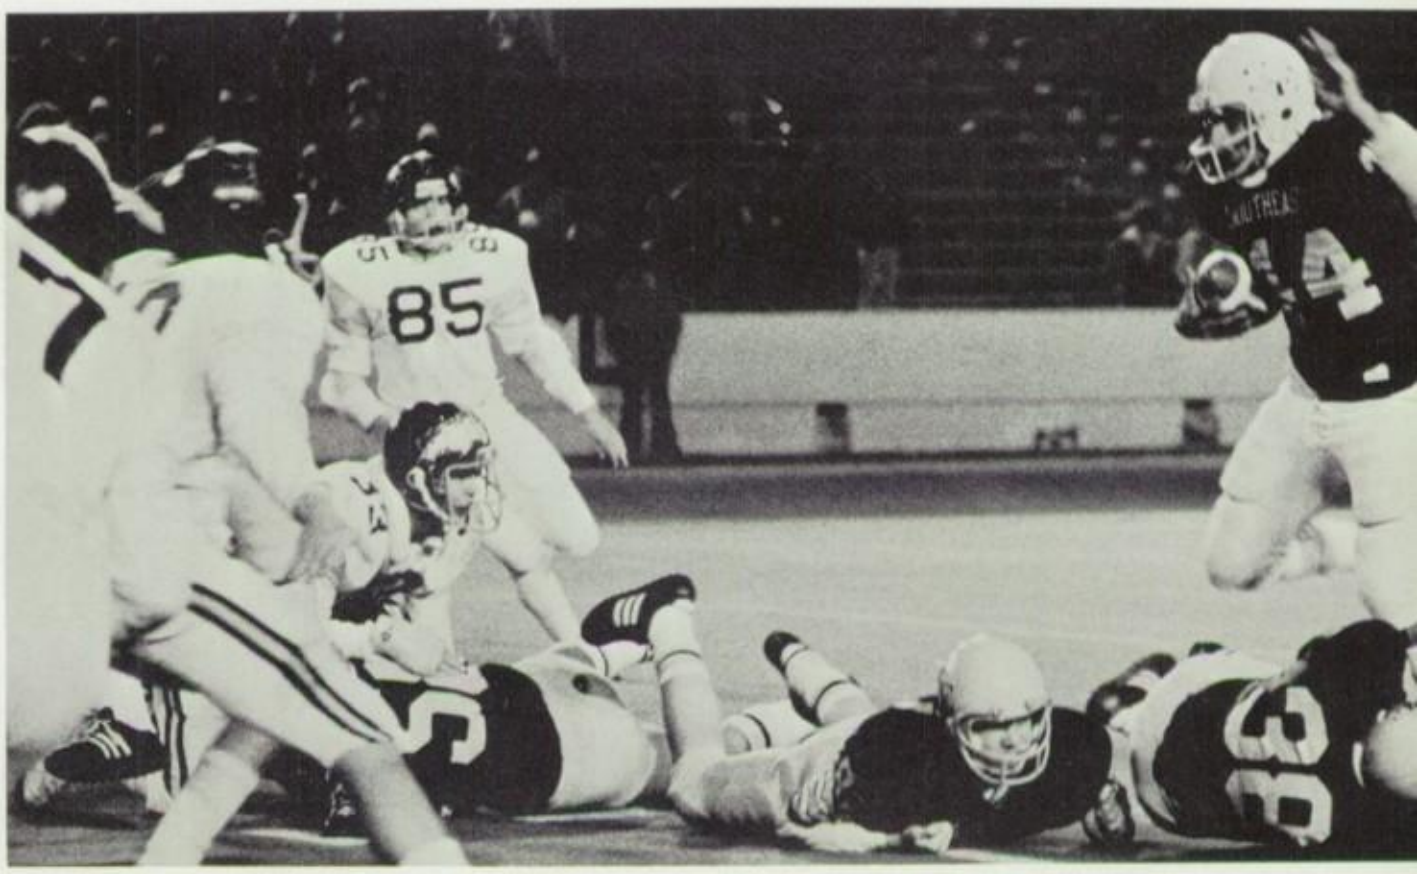
Southeast revenged last year's loss to Shawnee Mission North by defeating the Indians, 13-2, in the sub-state game in Kansas City. The defense was again the deciding factor, holding the opposing offense scoreless. The Indians' lone two points came on a disputed safety call in the second quarter. Scoring touchdowns for the Buffs were running backs Levy and Toby Paige.

"The biggest thing we proved, even though we lost state, was that we could win city two years in a row," said Paige.



1. Coach Bruce DeHaven, John McCroskey (15) and Steve Hobus (64) leave the field clutching the runner-up trophy. 2. Team captains Toby Paige (16) and Steve Hobus (64) listen to the referee's directions before calling the toss. 3. Quarterback Ronn Reynolds runs to the sidelines on a time-out to get instructions for another play. 4. Keeping a tight grip on the pigskin, running back Tracy Levy attempts to evade the Raider secondary. 5. The defensive line awaits the start of the clock and the chance to barrel down the opposition, the Shawnee Mission South Raiders. Left to right- Jeff Cohlmia (90), Mike Bradley (58), Brad Moser (59), Brian Landeck (78), Steve Hobus (64), Mike McClellan (77).



Tailback Levy crumbles old records

Highlighting the team's potent offensive showing was a record-setting performance by Tracy Levy. The senior tailback ran over and around opponents for 1,300 yards in City League games. As a team, Southeast averaged over 280 yards rushing per game.

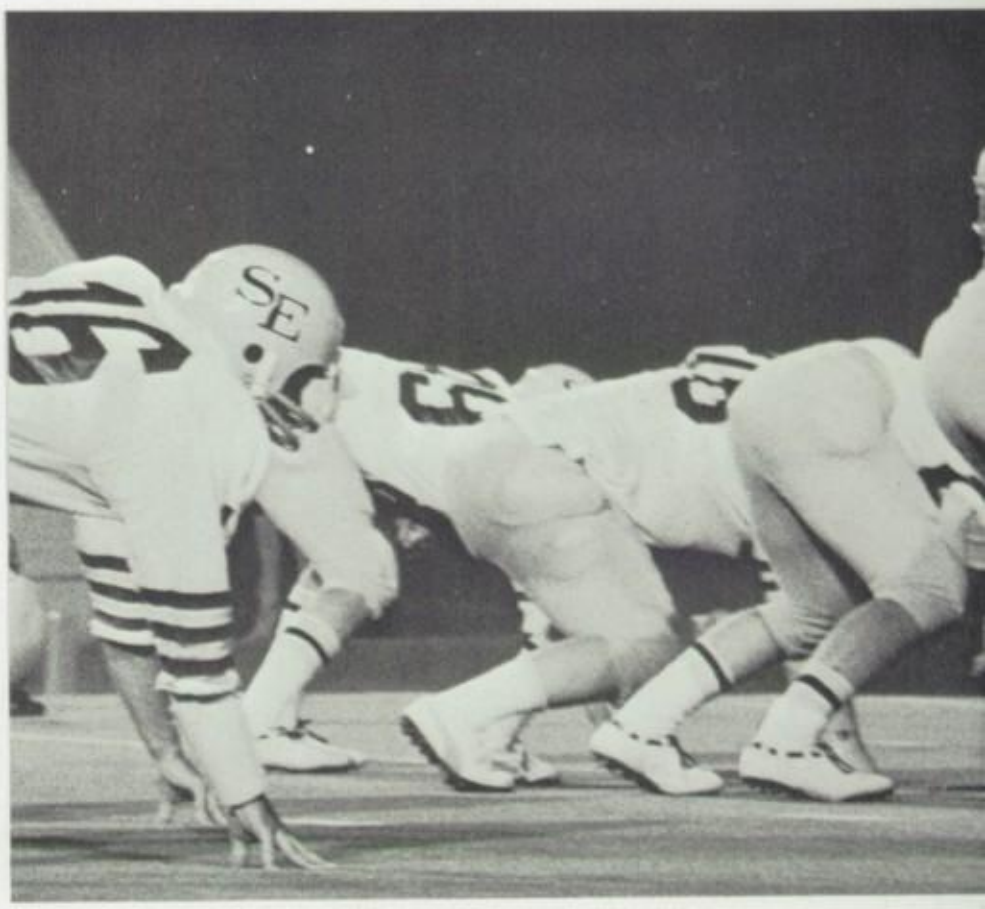
Head Coach Jim Davie said that the backfield of Levy, Paige, Ronn Reynolds and Jim Johnson "is probably the best backfield I've had since I've been at Southeast."

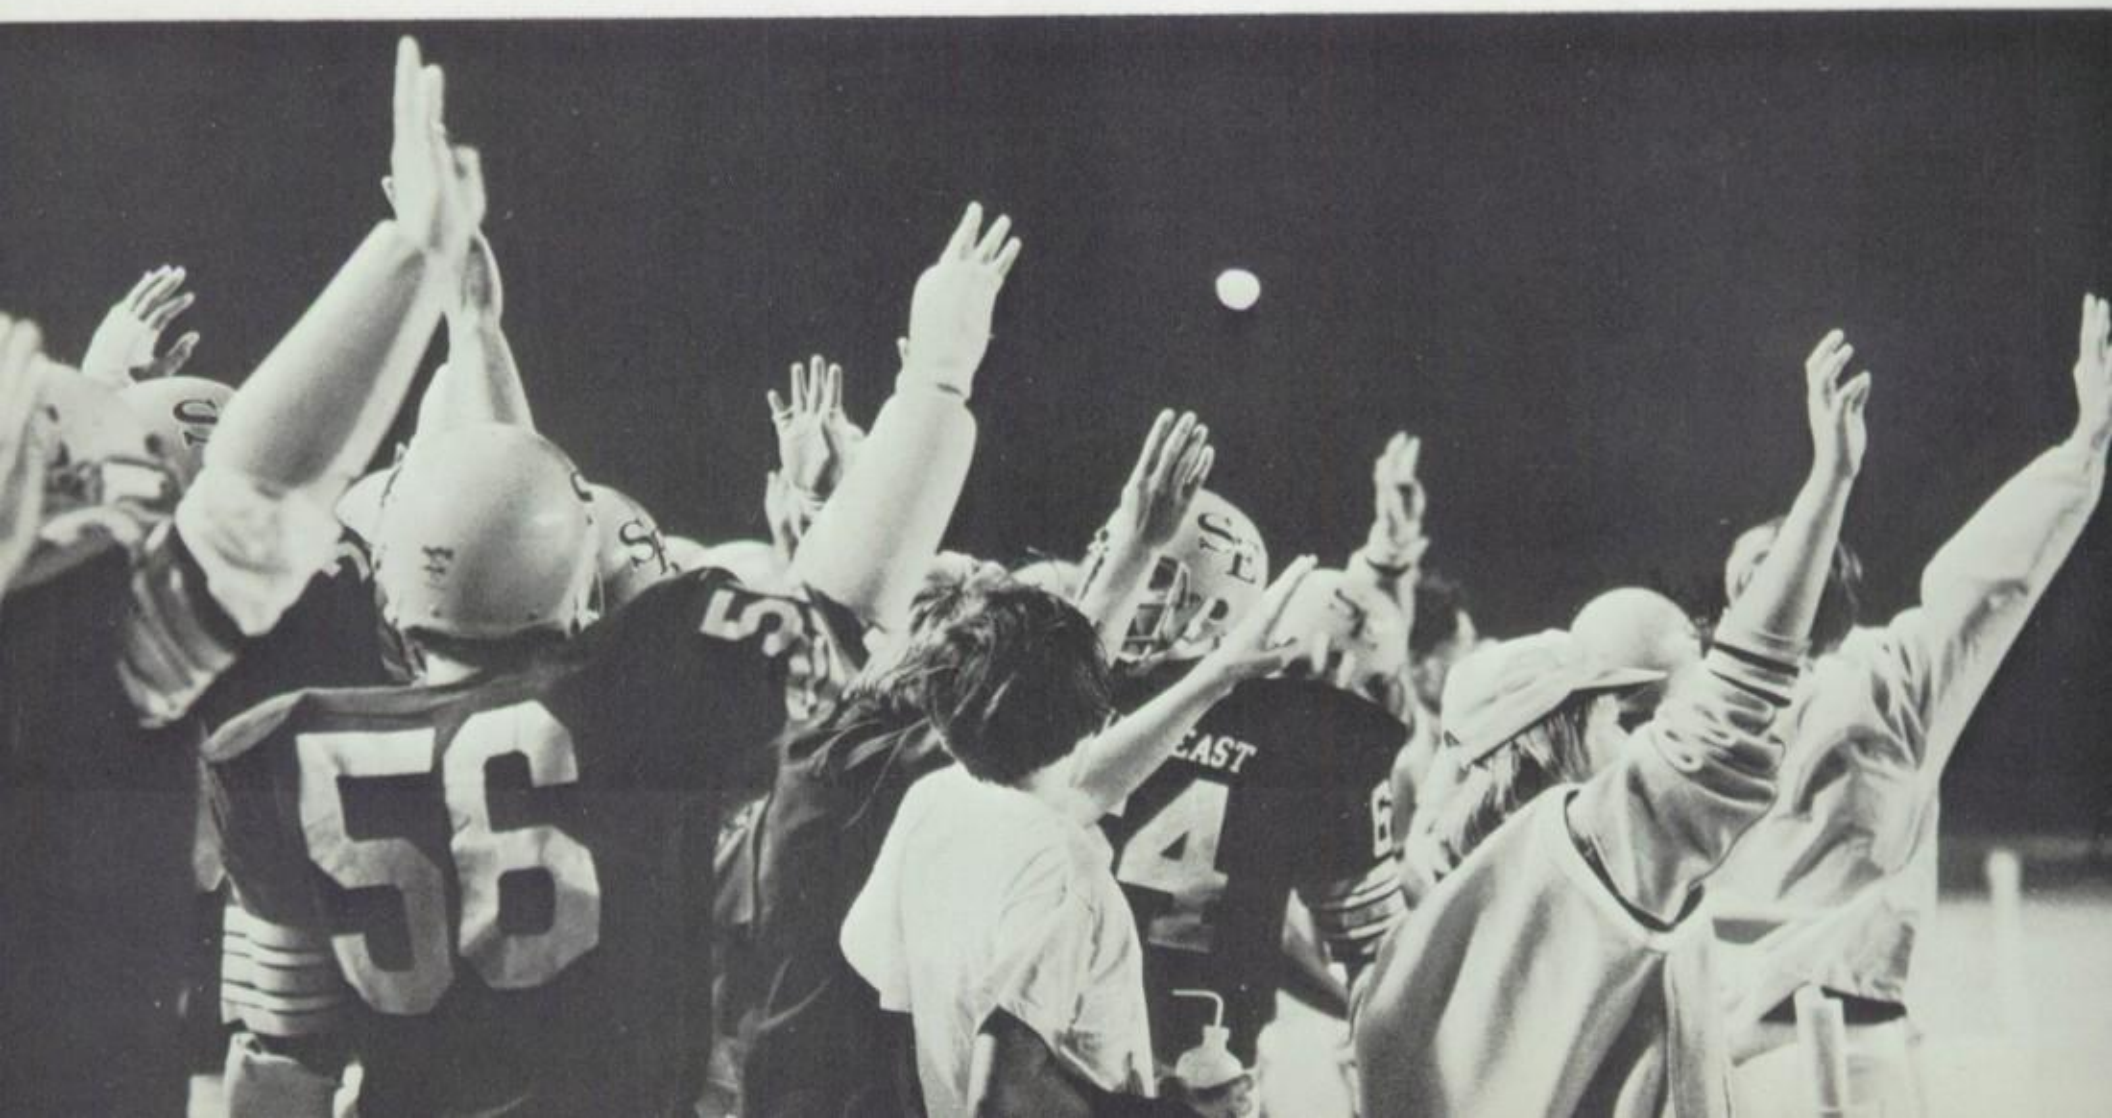
Buff linemen excelled in opening holes for the backs as is apparent from the statistics gathered this season.

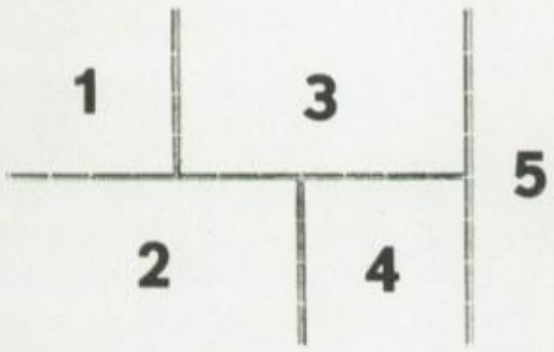
"I think as a whole the line doesn't mind blocking for the backs because that's what it takes to win. It's great when you drive the length of the field and score," said Center Brad Moser.

Coach Davie added, "Anytime a team rushes for as many yards as we did, you know the offensive line is fantastic."

Exceptional strength in overall team play was the big factor in bringing victory to the Buffs.







1. Hemmed in by Buffs Toby Paige (16) and Tom Utter (26), a North High Redskin has trouble gaining yardage. 2. Unique for the gesture, the players hold up four fingers signaling the start of the final quarter. 3. Preparing to plow down opponents Kapaun-Mt. Carmel, the offensive line broke through for the first touchdown. 4. Fullback Jim Johnson (38) takes a handoff from quarterback Ronn Reynolds (14) and trails Mike Bradley (58) leading the blocking. 5. Junior Bill Ownby watches the gridiron action as he receives directions on a play from the coach.

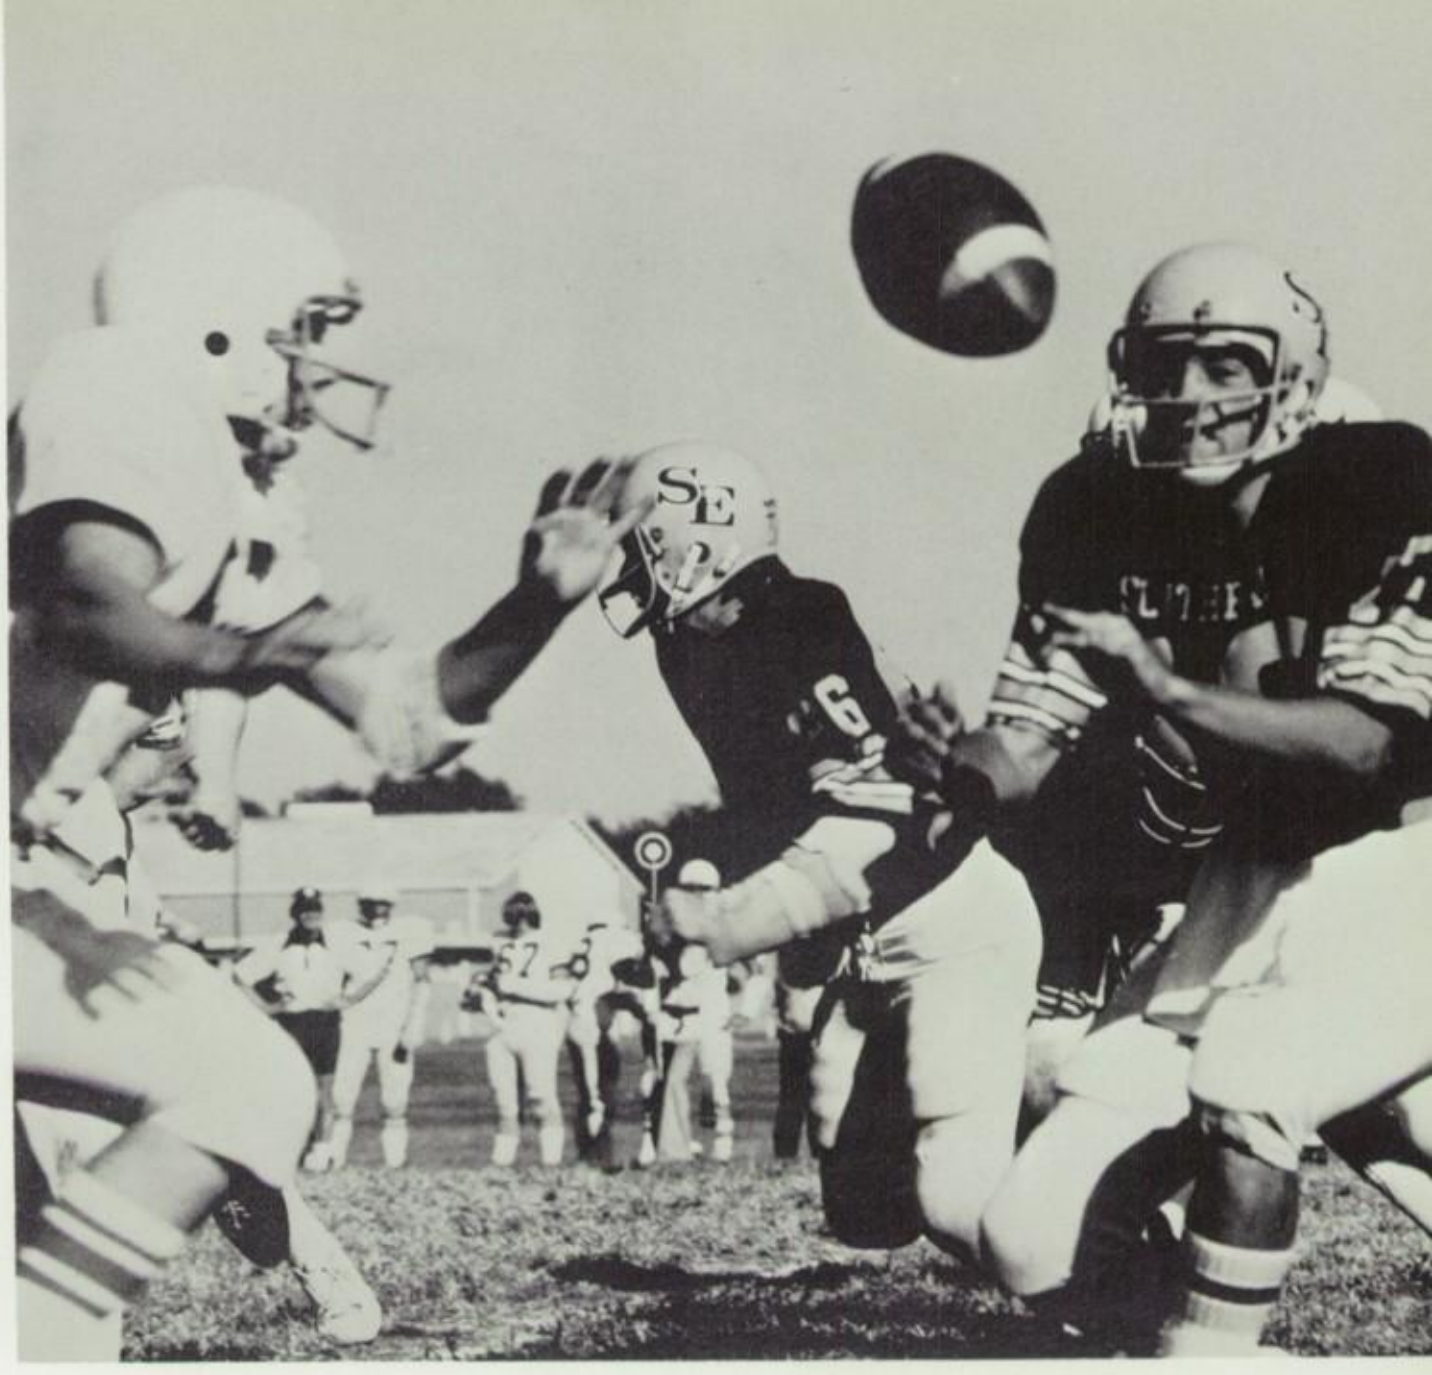
Young teams overpower league rivals

Carrying future Southeast Varsity members, the Junior Varsity and Sophomore Football Teams both proved promising performances are in the forecast for next fall. The B-team went 7-0 against City League opponents, while the Baby Buffs finished their season at 6-1, losing only to South, 8-7.

Averaging nearly 24 points per game, the sophomores were led offensively by Kevin Clinton, Ernie Coleman, Rod Guice, and David North. Kerry Benton and Scott Sanders headed the defense. The loss to South was the first by a sophomore squad since 1973.

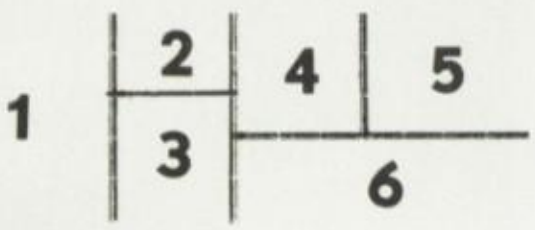
"I was really happy with the dominance that our boys displayed in this game. We just kind of let down, quit hitting hard, and came up on the short end of the stick," commented Sophomore Coach Mike Shay.

Easy victories with high scores were not unusual for Junior Varsity. Averaging over 37 points per game offensively, they gave up less than three points on defense.



Their widest margin was a 64-0 slaughter over East.

Lack of competition was a worry of B-team coach Bruce DeHaven going into the final games with Kapaun-Mt. Carmel and West. But the Buffs came out victors in both to complete an undefeated season.



1. Sophomore Mark Nordyke (24) assists an unidentified Buff in the sack of a North ball carrier. 2. Spurring the Buffs on to a victory, junior Tim Easter (65) explodes into the open. 3. Breaking away from a mass of Redskin tacklers, is junior Floyd Smith (32). 4. Quarterback Joe Solomon (12) attempts to complete a pass for added yardage, while covered by Ron Hunter (45). 5. Proving the Buffs offensive strength, Joe Solomon (12) and Tom Frye (66) push their way through Redskins. 6. Sophomore Football Team. Bottom row left to right- Kevin Clinton, Mike Dobbins, Joe Elliott, Leonard Watson, Mark Goldberg, Tim Brogan, Steve Johnson, Jeff Gillum, Tracy Burragree, Mark Fox, Curt Wilcut, Ron Hurd, Doug Chinberg, Mark Nordyke, Reggie Wilson, Jim Scholler. Middle row- David Carter, manager; David Lee, Cory Childs, Brad Craig, Cliff Phillips, Kyle Stevens, Ernie Coleman, Craig Shumard, Mike Williams, David Eggleston, Brad Cohlmia, Jim Burgardt, John Moore, Jim Thomas, Greg Mason, John Romoser, Rod Guice, Kevin Tomlin, Louise Forbes, manager. Top row- Jeff Cunningham, Mark Swearingen, John Chippeaux, Chris Rains, Jeff King, Mike Cox, Jay Hull, Steve Heinrich, Mark Satterthwaite, Keith Brown, Dean Rutherford, Ken Stanley, Kerry Benton, Stewart Keeler, David North, Steve Brown, Darryl Cooks, John Tyler, Scott Sanders, Jim Meyers.

Harriers make tracks in city, state

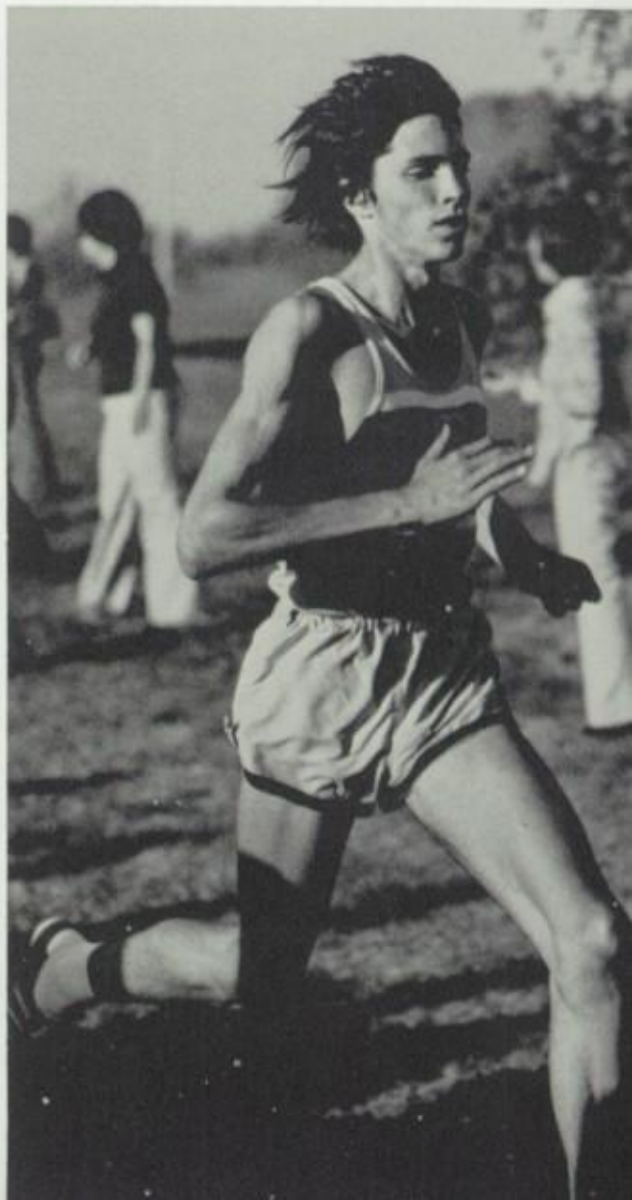
Potential was not a worry of Coach Chuck Hatter during the Cross Country season. But the outcome of the state meet had him guessing.

Buff runners finished fourth in the state meet at Wamego with 115 points, while Shawnee Mission North racked up 44 points in capturing the title. During the season, the Buffs won four of their six meets and took first in city and regionals.

In an effort to help the harriers peak at state competition, Hatter decreased the overall number of meets, but he said the team worked harder. Hatter called it a good year, however, the elusive state crown escaped them for the third year.

"I didn't think we'd have much trouble in city or regionals this year. I thought we might be higher in state, but our fourth and fifth men finished too far back," said Hatter.

Leading the Buffs charge was



Tom White, junior, who finished fourth at Wamego while breaking the tape in five previous meets. He achieved his goal of 9:25 in the state meet, beating that time by a second.

"I was satisfied with the team until the state meet, we should have finished at least third," said White.

Surprising was Jeff Campbell, the fastest sophomore in the state, placing 14th in the championship meet.

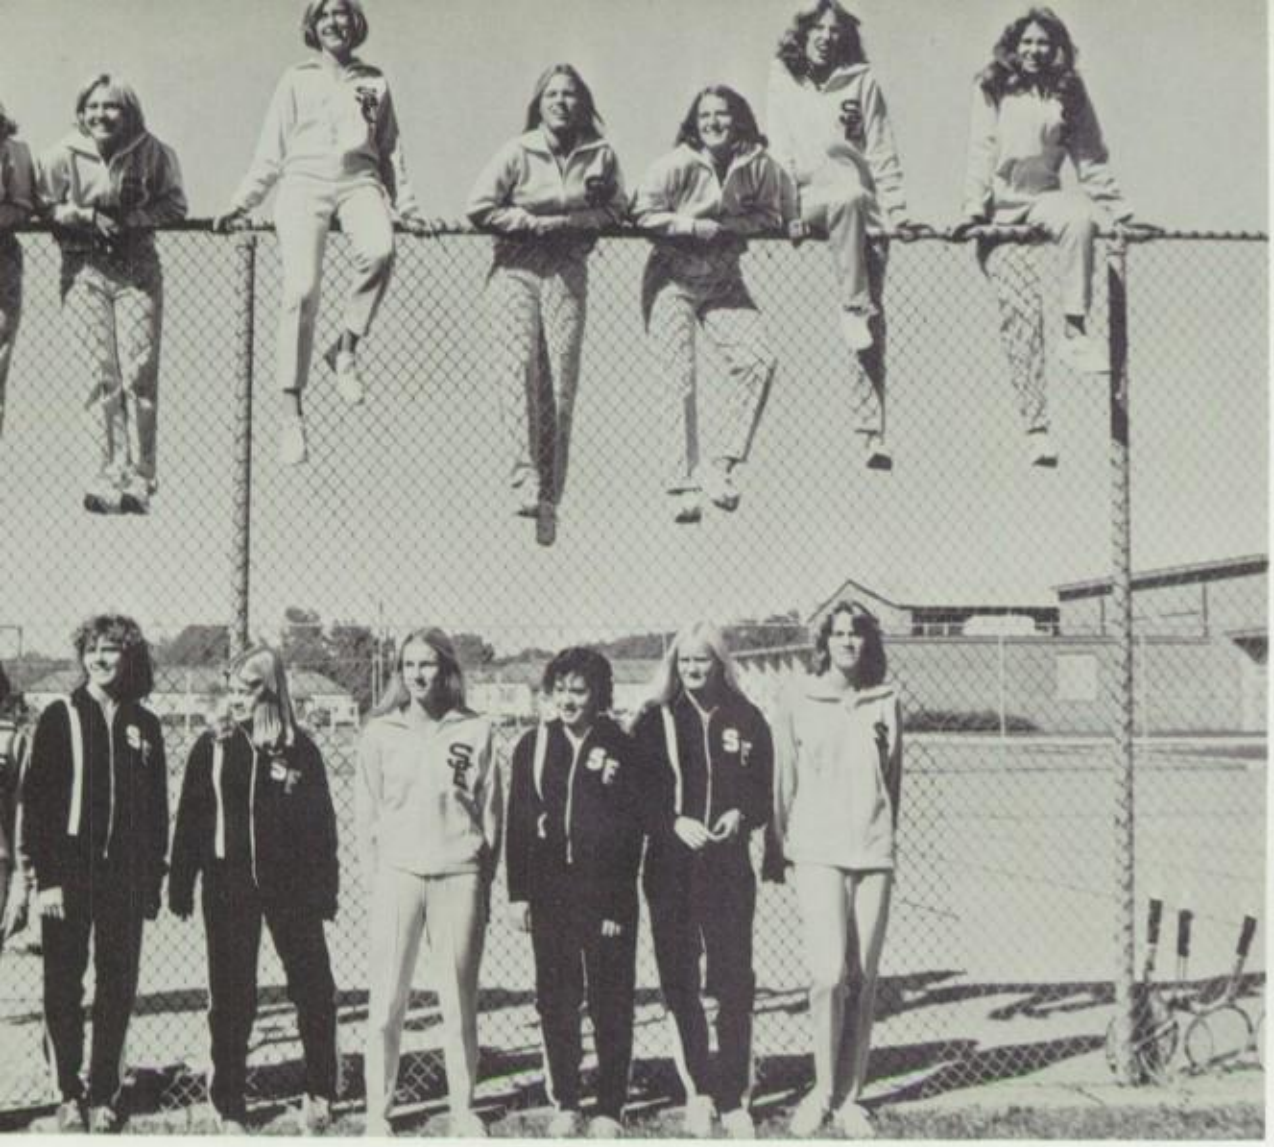
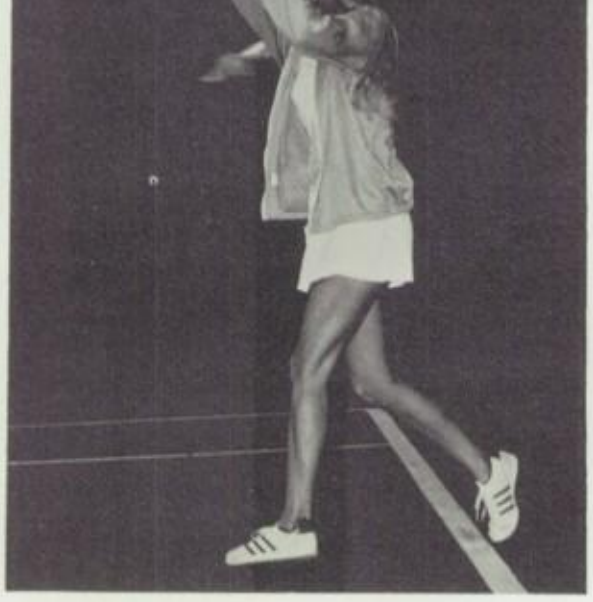
1. Striving for the tape, Jeff Hayes attempts to catch teammate Jeff Campbell. 2. Southeast runner Brett Johnson pushes a little harder to pass an East competitor. 3. Tom White comes out ahead as he proves his skill once again. 4. Harriers from Wichita and Shawnee Mission high schools receive last minute instructions while awaiting for the trek to begin. 5. Cross Country Team. Top row left to right- Brett Johnson, Brent Jones, Les Lauchner and Greg Triplett. Bottom row- Jeff Hayes, Mark Williams, Tom White and Jeff Campbell. 6. Runners take time out to prepare themselves for the upcoming race.

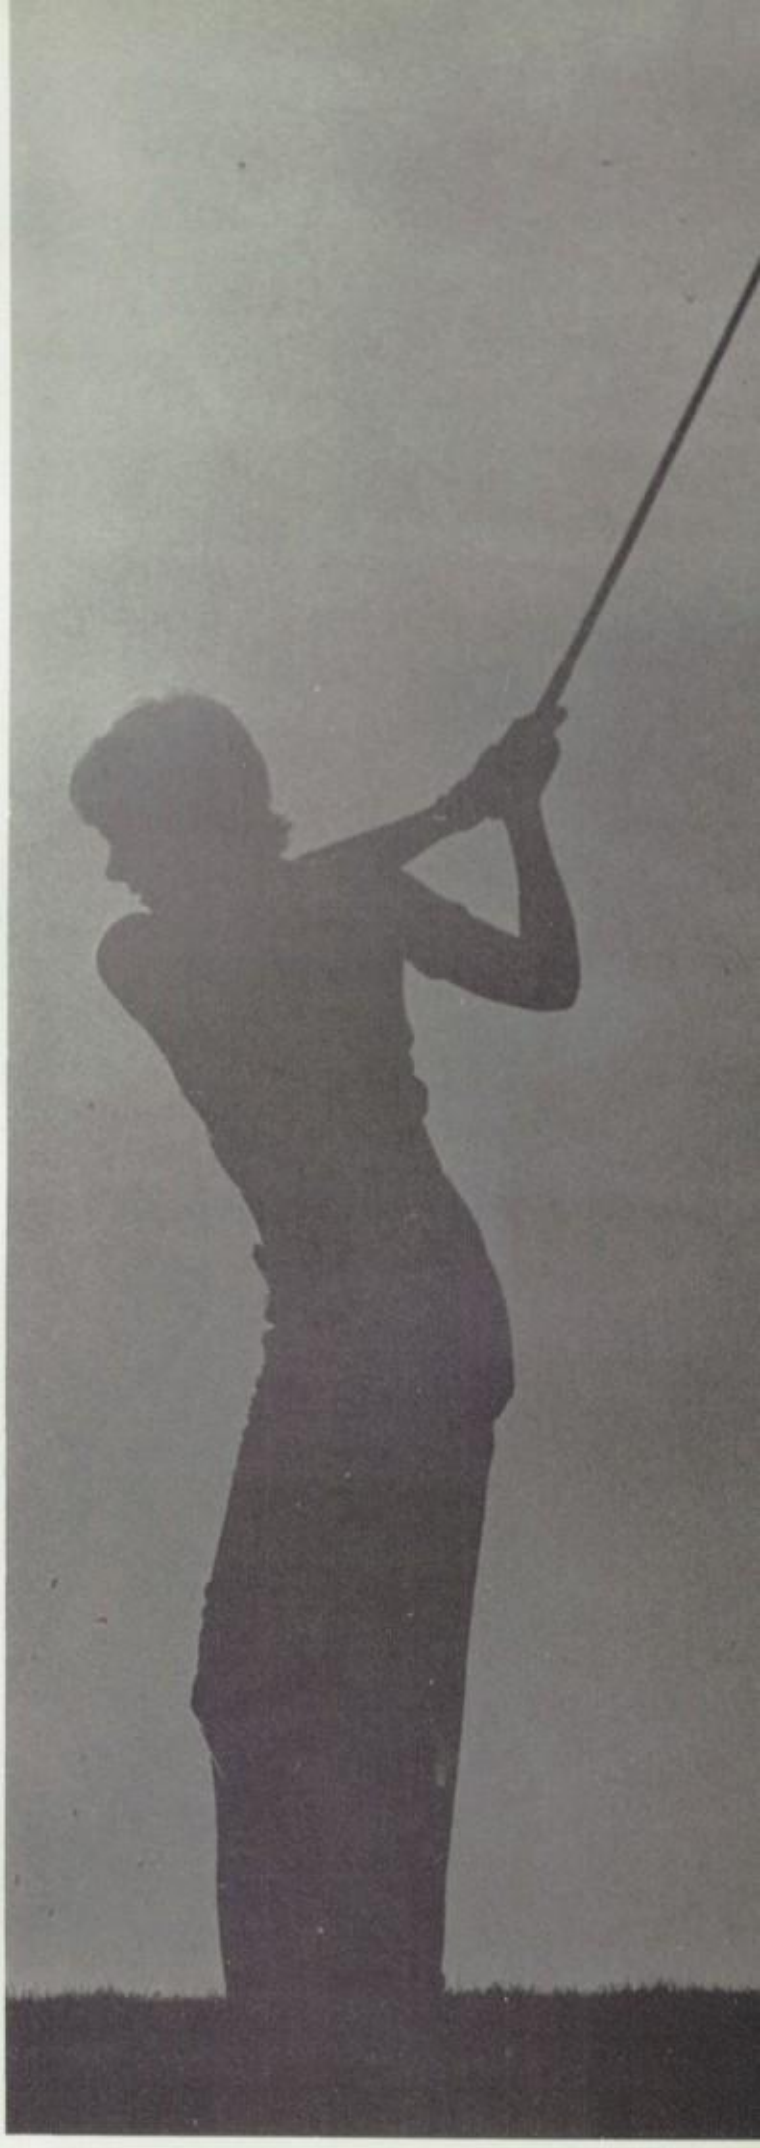
Golfers putt; tennis team smashes city

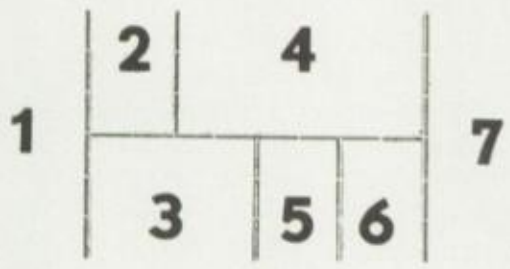
In the third year of high school competition, the Girls' Golf Team attempted to build up its program. Only Beth Lee, senior, and Kay Rothfelder, sophomore, had previous varsity experience. Four Coleman Junior High girls were drawn to complete the team. Miss Lee led the team placing fourth in the city meet. At 3-4-5A Regionals, the four-girl team clinched sixth, while the two-girl placed fifth. Both were played on the Pawnee Prairie Golf Course.

As is customary, the Tennis Buffs swept the City League title and were undefeated throughout the season. Oct. 1, the Winfield Invitational provided the team's toughest competition. Southeast tied for third place. A mix-up in dates caused half the varsity to default regionals. However, junior Megan Mahaffy grasped second place in No. 1 singles, giving her an opportunity at state, where she was bumped out in the the second round.









1. To Shari Howard, senior, bad weather and weekends were not obstacles preventing her from practicing her powerful net form indoors. 2. Kay Rothfelder, sophomore, blasts out of a sand trap stroking expertly. 3. Girls' Golf Team. Left to right- Karen McBride, Mary Reals, Kay Rothfelder, Linda McNeil, Debbie Deardorff, and Beth Lee. 4. Girls' Tennis Team. Bottom row, left to right- Salli Wheeler, Lisa Otterness, Kelly Warford, Susan Small, Dana Stephan, Cathy Schreiber and Vicki Calibani. Top row left to right- Nancy Bell, manager; Shari Howard, Dana Bradley, Holly Ratner, Lisa Lair, Ann Dayvault, Polly Johnson, Tina Wesley, Emily Evans, Megan Mahaffy, and Sarah Cannon. 5. Junior Megan Mahaffy, the Buffs top player this year, practices her strong and well-placed forehand. 6. Utilizing a tennis program at the Racquet Club, Cathy Schreiber, senior, adds skill to her game. 7. Senior Beth Lee concentrates on her follow-through of a drive.

Cager scores waver, but drive persists

With possibly the most talent ever compiled on a Southeast basketball team, the Varsity had high hopes of a promising season. In fact, they were picked as the team to beat in the battle for the state championship in pre-season ratings.

An experienced roster included two All-City performers: senior Mark Boswell and junior Marc Boyce. But the Buffs did not live up to expectations en route to a rather disappointing season full of ups and downs.

"Mental mistakes seemed to cost us some ballgames—we needed to play with more intensity. Lack of team play and personal problems also hurt us," said senior Dudley Rutherford.

Team members said overconfidence was probably a factor in losing their No. 1 ranking.

After opening with wins over Topeka and Salina Central, the team lost its first two City League games against Heights and North. Hope was not lost as the cagers popped back with narrow victories over South, KMC, East and West by a total of nine points.

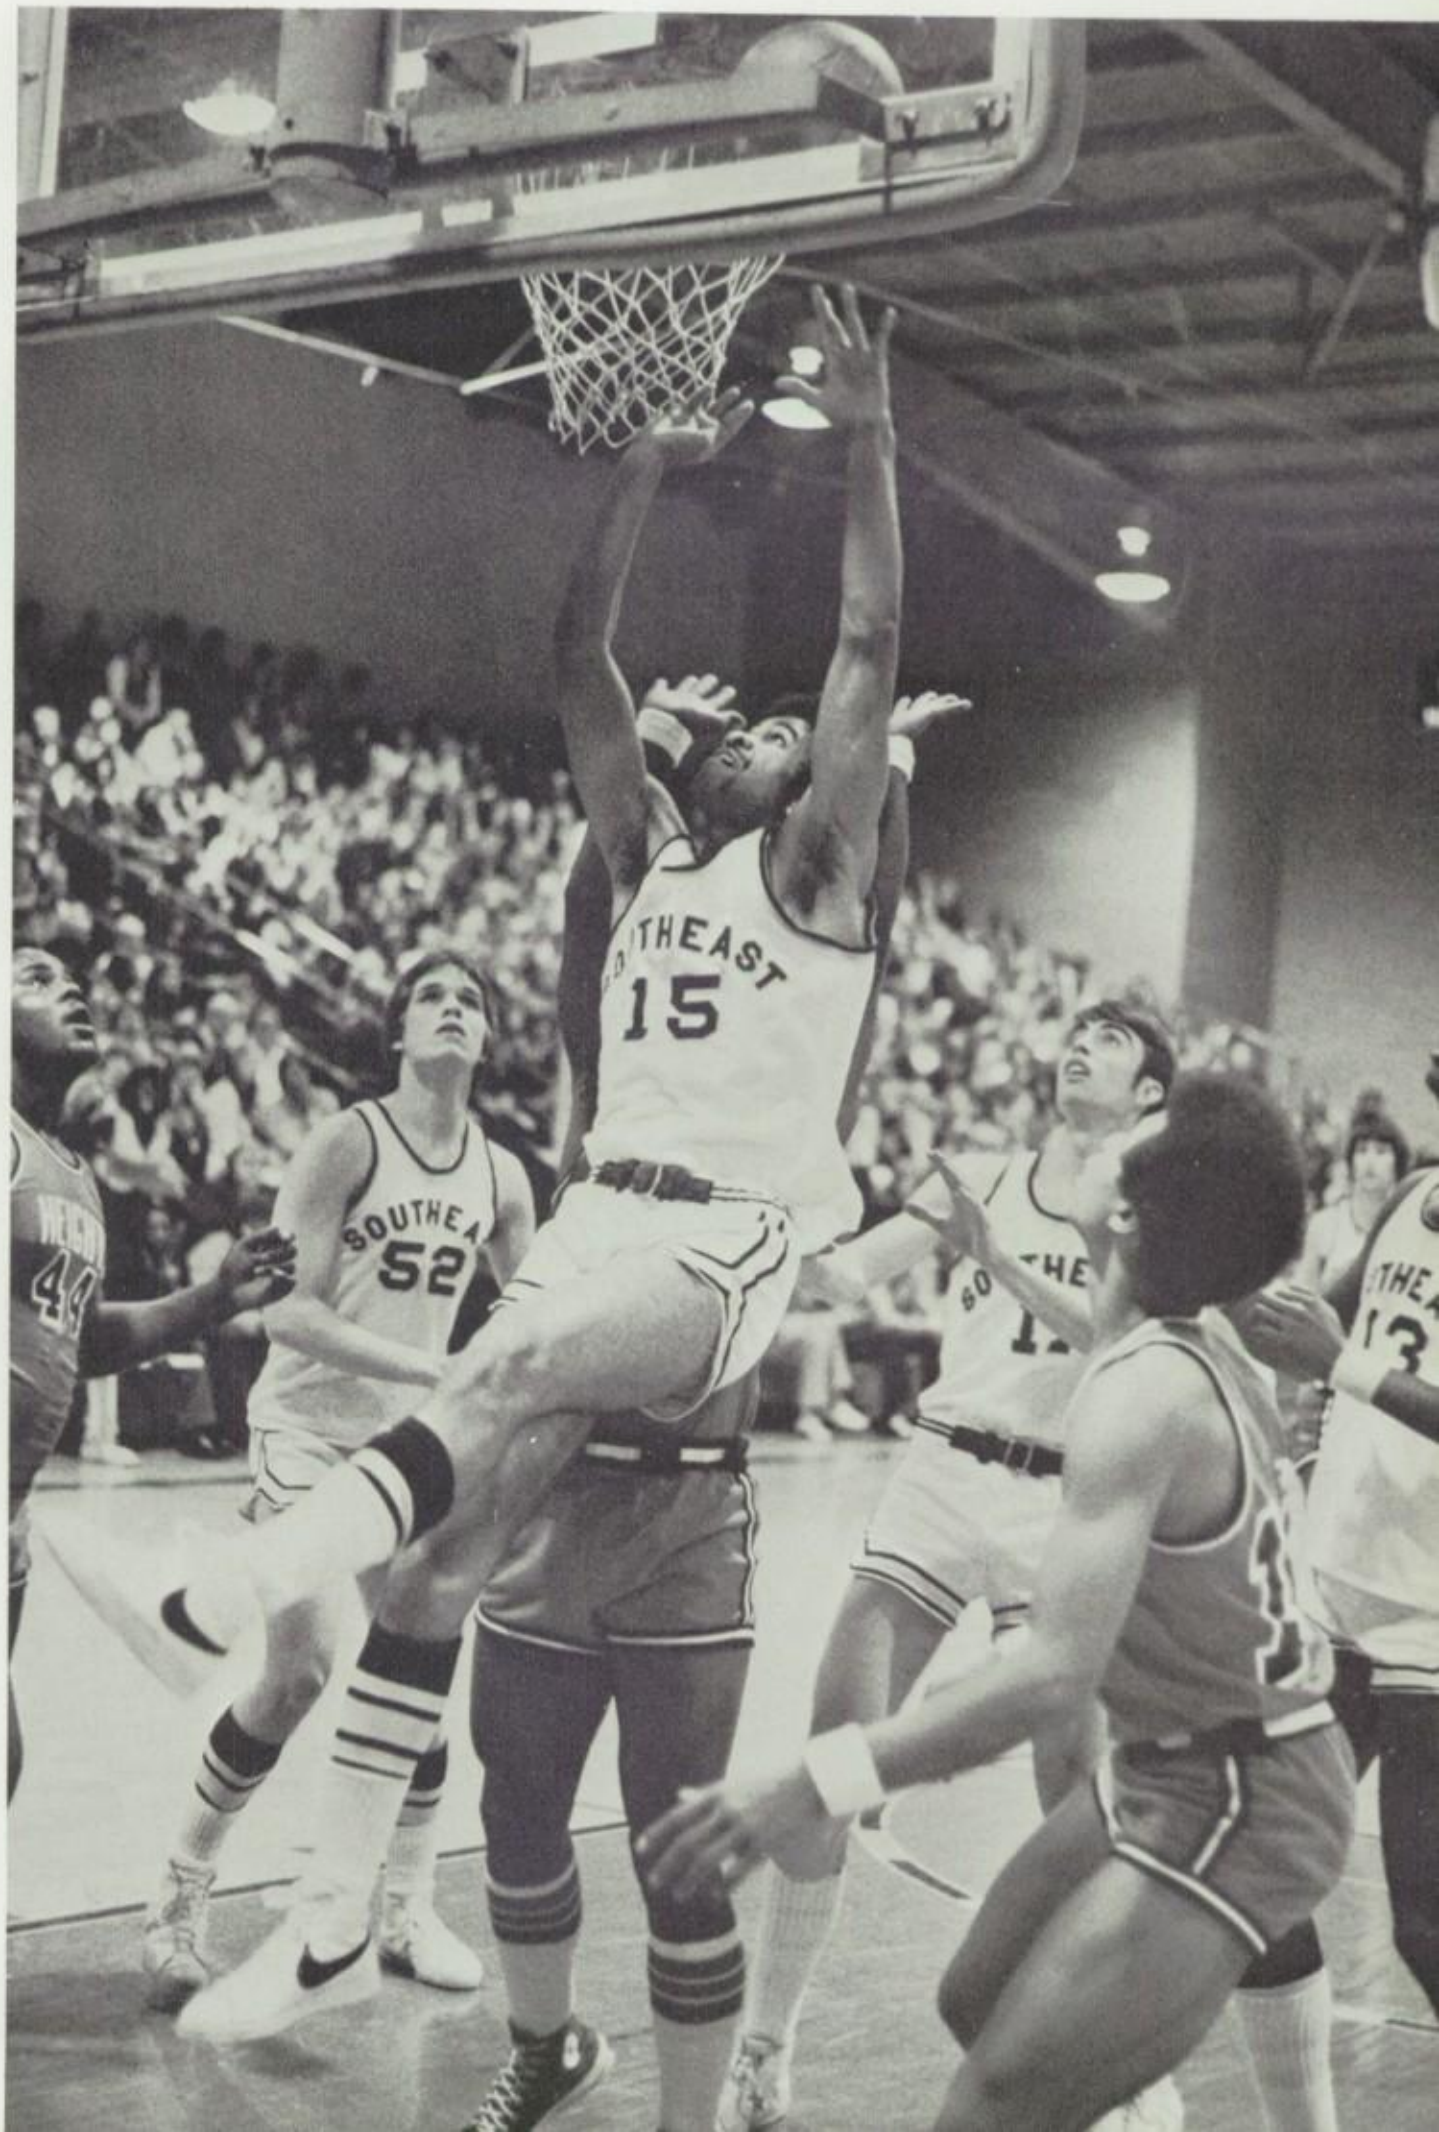
1. Mike Sowders, Dudley Rutherford, Marc Boyce and Mark Boswell meet at center court during introductions. 2. Expert ball handling by senior guard Mike Sowders (44) helps in a game against North. 3. Varsity Basketball Team. Standing left to right- Tony Bogguess, Kenny Washington, Marc Boyce, Mark Boswell, Kelly Martin, Dudley Rutherford, Dan Wilborn, Mike Sowders. Kneeling- Dan Massey, Avery Sherrod, David Schaefer, Rod Guice, Doug Chang. 4. Just clearing the outstretched arm of Heights' Roberto Garcia (22), senior Tony Bogguess (25) reaches for the tipoff during their first battle at Century II. 5. Junior center Marc Boyce (15) goes over Heights to score two as Mark Boswell (52), Dudley Rutherford (11) and Kelly Martin (13) look on.



Talent abides while varsity looks to state

Cellar-dwelling Carroll then dealt the Buffs a big blow, handing them a 62-57 loss in the loser's gym. This was the first of two victories over the Buffs. Southeast proceeded to take third in the annual Wyandotte Invitational, by defeating North.

After beating North for the second time, the team was again walloped by powerhouse Heights, No. 1 in the state. In two regular season meetings, the Falcons ripped Southeast by 54 points.

Coach Jim Givens stated,"We had the potential but never peaked. Just as we seemed to get there, we'd lose one."

Mark Boswell and senior Danny Wilborn provided the outside firepower in the Buffs' offensive attack, while Dudley Rutherford kept the defense honest with his short turn-around jumper. No one was tougher on the boards than Marc Boyce. Senior Mike Sowders handled the backcourt duties and fellow classmates Kelly Martin and Tony Bogguess supplied strength off the bench. Coach Givens cited Rutherford as the team's most consistent player.

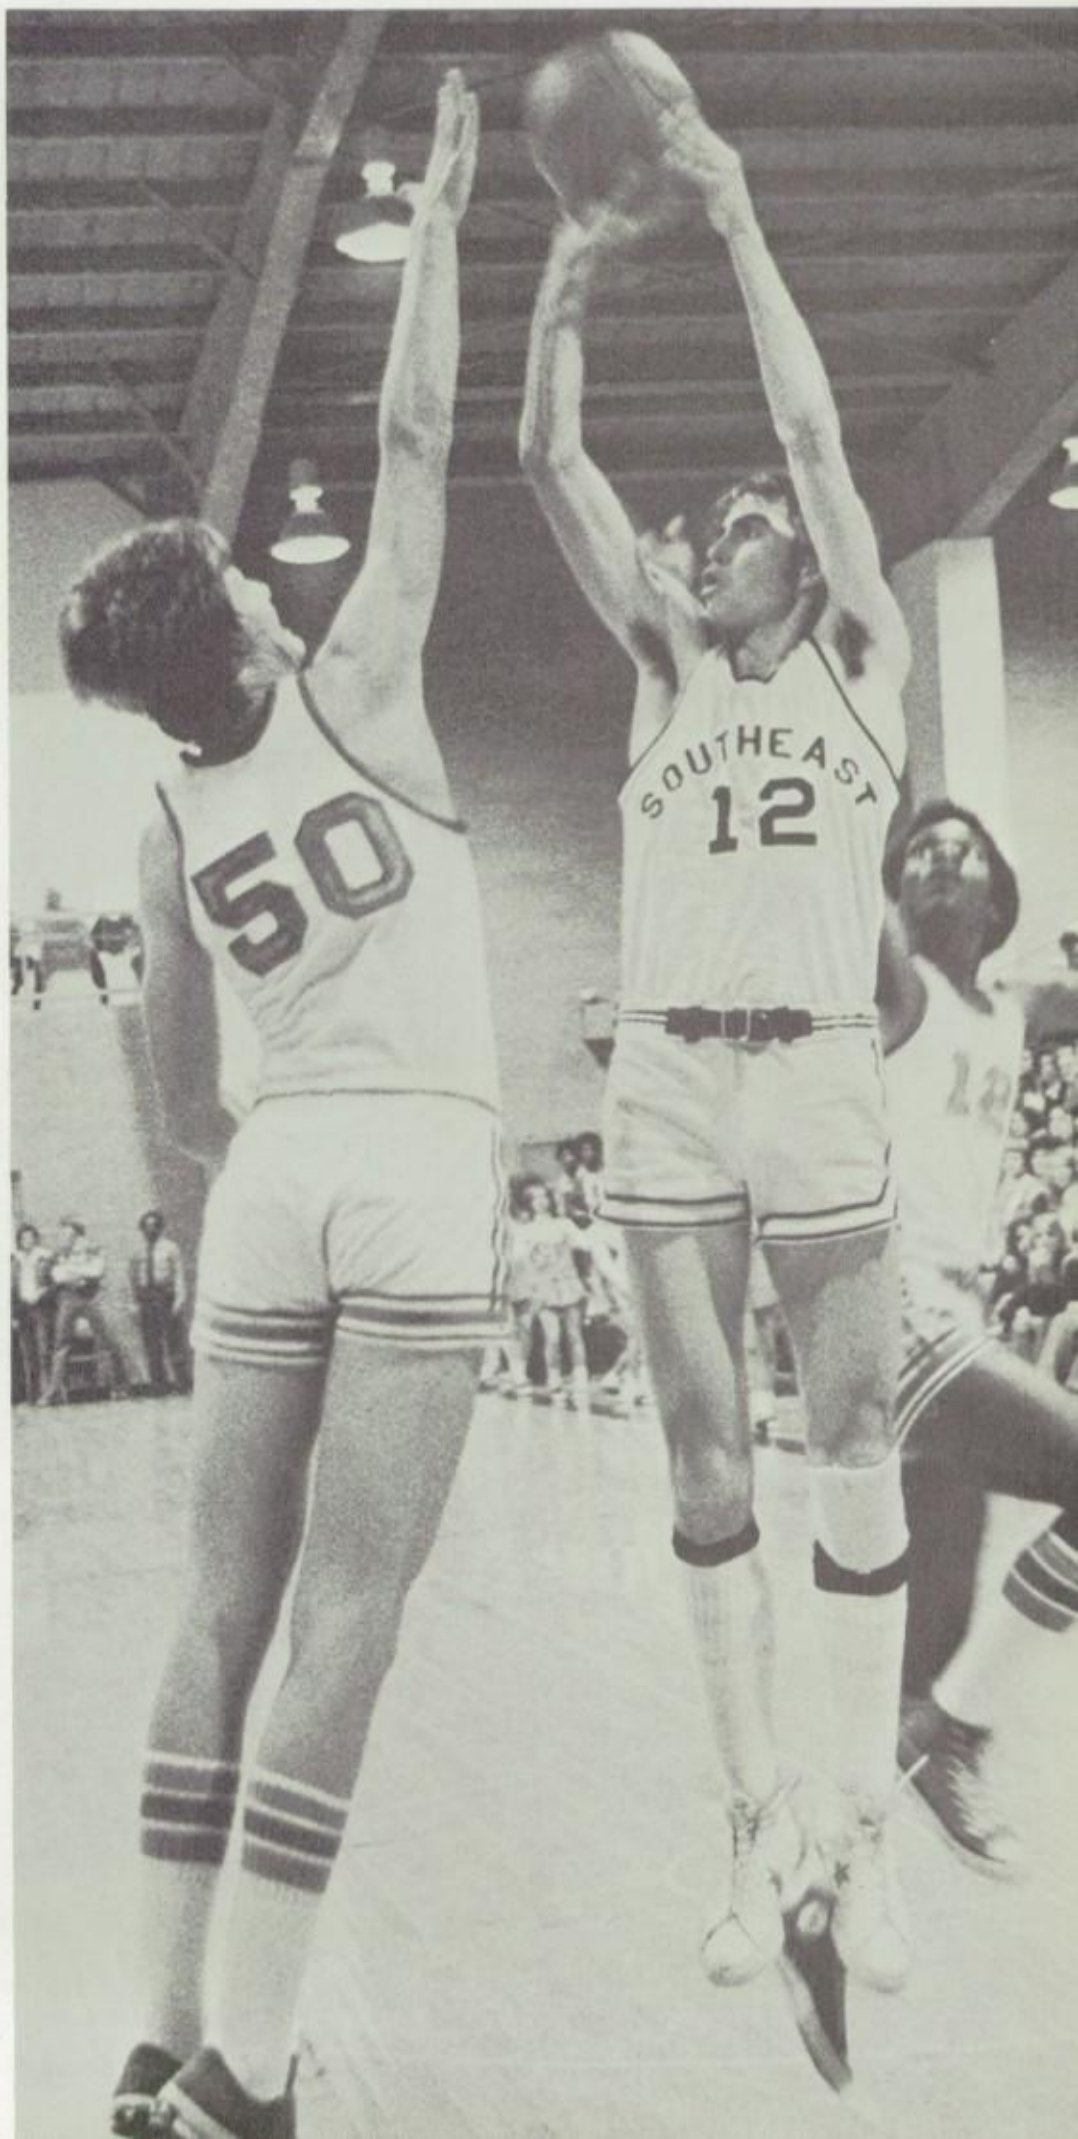
1. Lunging for a basket, senior forward Kelly Martin (13) shoots with good coverage by Buffs Dudley Rutherford (11) and Mark Boswell (52). 2. Mark Boswell casually accepts the applause as he is introduced during the pre-game activities. 3. Concentration marks the expression of senior guard Danny Wilborn as he shoots a free-throw. 4. While Danny Wilborn and Marc Boyce take a breather, Assistant Coach John Dawkins gives explicit instructions. 5. The Southeast bench, loaded with experience, awaits directions to substitute from Coach Jim Givens. 6. Senior forward Dudley Rutherford (12) shoots one high "j" over 6'7" Paul Wilke of East adding to his 17 point game high.



JV, Sophs come alive with wins

Junior Varsity members showed promise for next year's Varsity Basketball Team in compiling an 8-6 record. Juniors David Schaefer and Avery Sherrod led the team in scoring. Although starting out slowly, the Buffs came alive in the second half of the season sparked by the play of Sherrod and Willie Dempsey.

"We hope we can carry the success we had during the second season over to next year," said Schaefer.

Highlighting the year were victories over Heights and North, with Schaefer hitting 27 points in the North game.

Good fundamentals and team play were attributes in the sophomore team's 7-5 record.

"Although we didn't have much size, they hustled and played very well togehter," said Coach Bruce DeHaven.

The team took advantage of good ballhandling in using a stall offense with big leads. Coach DeHaven pointed out Ernie Coleman and Kevin Clinton as the game-breakers with their scoring.

Court game experiences big changes

In an effort to gain support by attendance, the Varsity Girls' Basketball Team played five of their games before Boys' Varsity games. Another change was the addition of the boys' yell team to cheer the girls on.

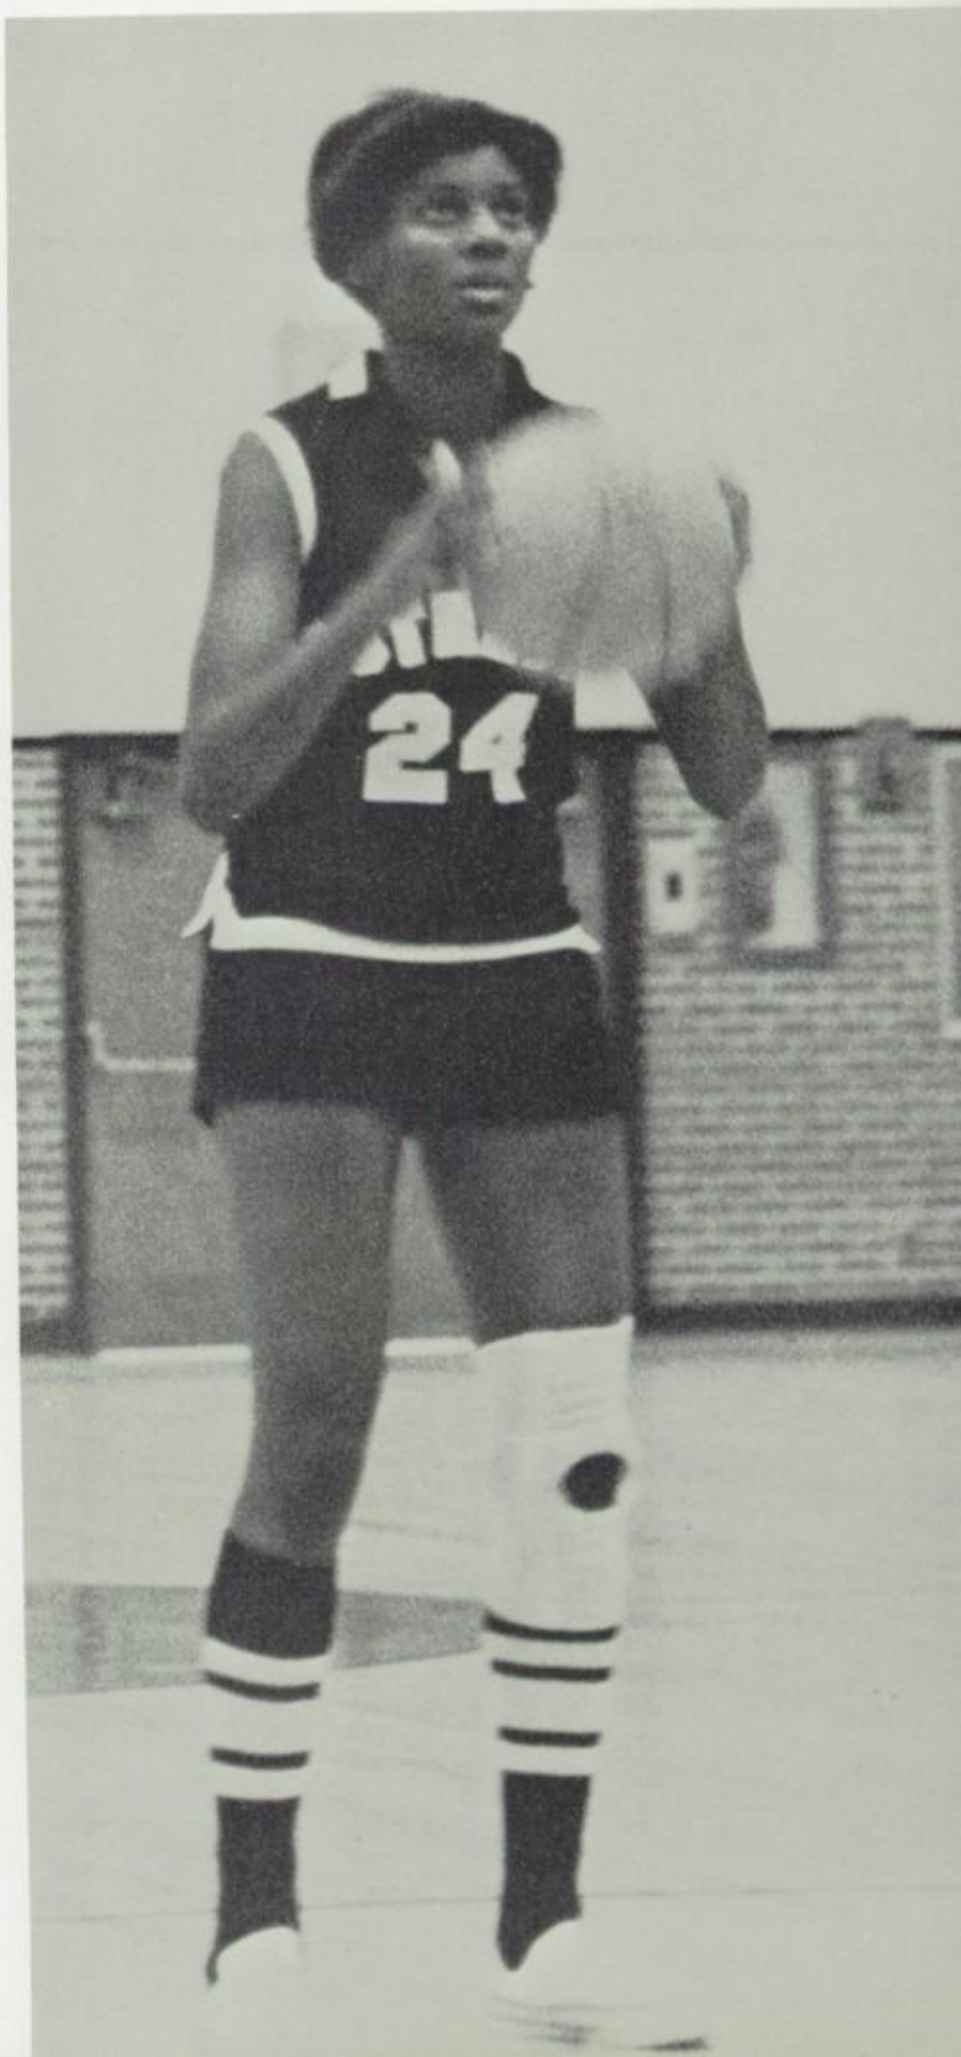
By mid-February, the Buffs held a 4-5 win-loss record in the City League. Leading the team in scoring was senior Jane Pridgett. The 6'2" center also captained the squad.

"Jane is a good team leader. She has been a good captain and really encourages and motivates the others," said Coach Miss Donna Harris.

Coach Harris is the only female coach of a girls' basketball team in Wichita.

The varsity also included senior forwards Vonnie Davidson, Sheila Haynes, Becky McIntyre and Nancy McMaster. At the guard positions were Vickie Bell, senior and Julie Shurtz, junior.

Only three players will be returning next year. The Buffs will then be forced to rely on their quickness and shooting instead of rebounds.



With two games left in the season, the Junior Varsity posted a 4-6 record in City League play. Unlike the Varsity, they did not participate in any tournaments or out-of-city games.

According to Mrs. Marilyn Morris, coach, the girls had not played competitive basketball except for Robin Cochran, junior, who dropped down from varsity. This year, Coach Morris did not play varsity girls on b-team like other schools. Considering this, she said she thought the team had a good year.

Gymnasts aim for City; wrestlers better status

"This wrestling team is no comparison to other Southeast wrestling teams. We are 20 times better," said Mr. Mike Shay, coach.

Although posting a 1-6 City mark, the Buffs put in good performances losing several meets by slim margins.

Standouts for the grapplers were Ronn Reynolds, Byron Starr and Tom Werth, seniors. They qualified for the state meet along with Andy Amaro, junior, and Scott Sanders, sophomore.

With only three returning lettermen, the Boys' Gymnastics Team seemed to have a tough struggle ahead of them. But their outlook remained optimistic.

"Our goal is to win City. All of us think we can do it," said Herb Forbes, junior.

Seniors Scott Stark and Cary Knott, along with Forbes, paved the way for the Buffs. Under the coaching of Mr. Mike Young, the team compiled an impressive record for the year.

Swimmers sweep titles across state

Practicing from 5:30-7:30 a.m. daily as well as after school and Saturday mornings, the Water Buffs produced more yardage than previous Southeast teams. Mr. Chuck Hatter, coach, attributed the teams' success to these difficult workouts and to existing talent.

Swimming up to 15,000 yards each day, the team completely overwhelmed their opponents in capturing another City League title. They dominated their two closest state competitors, Shawnee Mission schools South and East in dual meets. The Buffs also won the Charger Relays in Tulsa, Okla.

Looking towards the State meet, Coach Hatter said, "A big factor in our success at state will be the performance of our sophomores. We also need people to think they can swim faster than they have been."

Senior Marshall Christmann gave the team added strength as one of the top divers in the state. He scored consistently around the 300 point mark. Co-captains this year were Doug Smith, senior, and Brent Miller, junior.

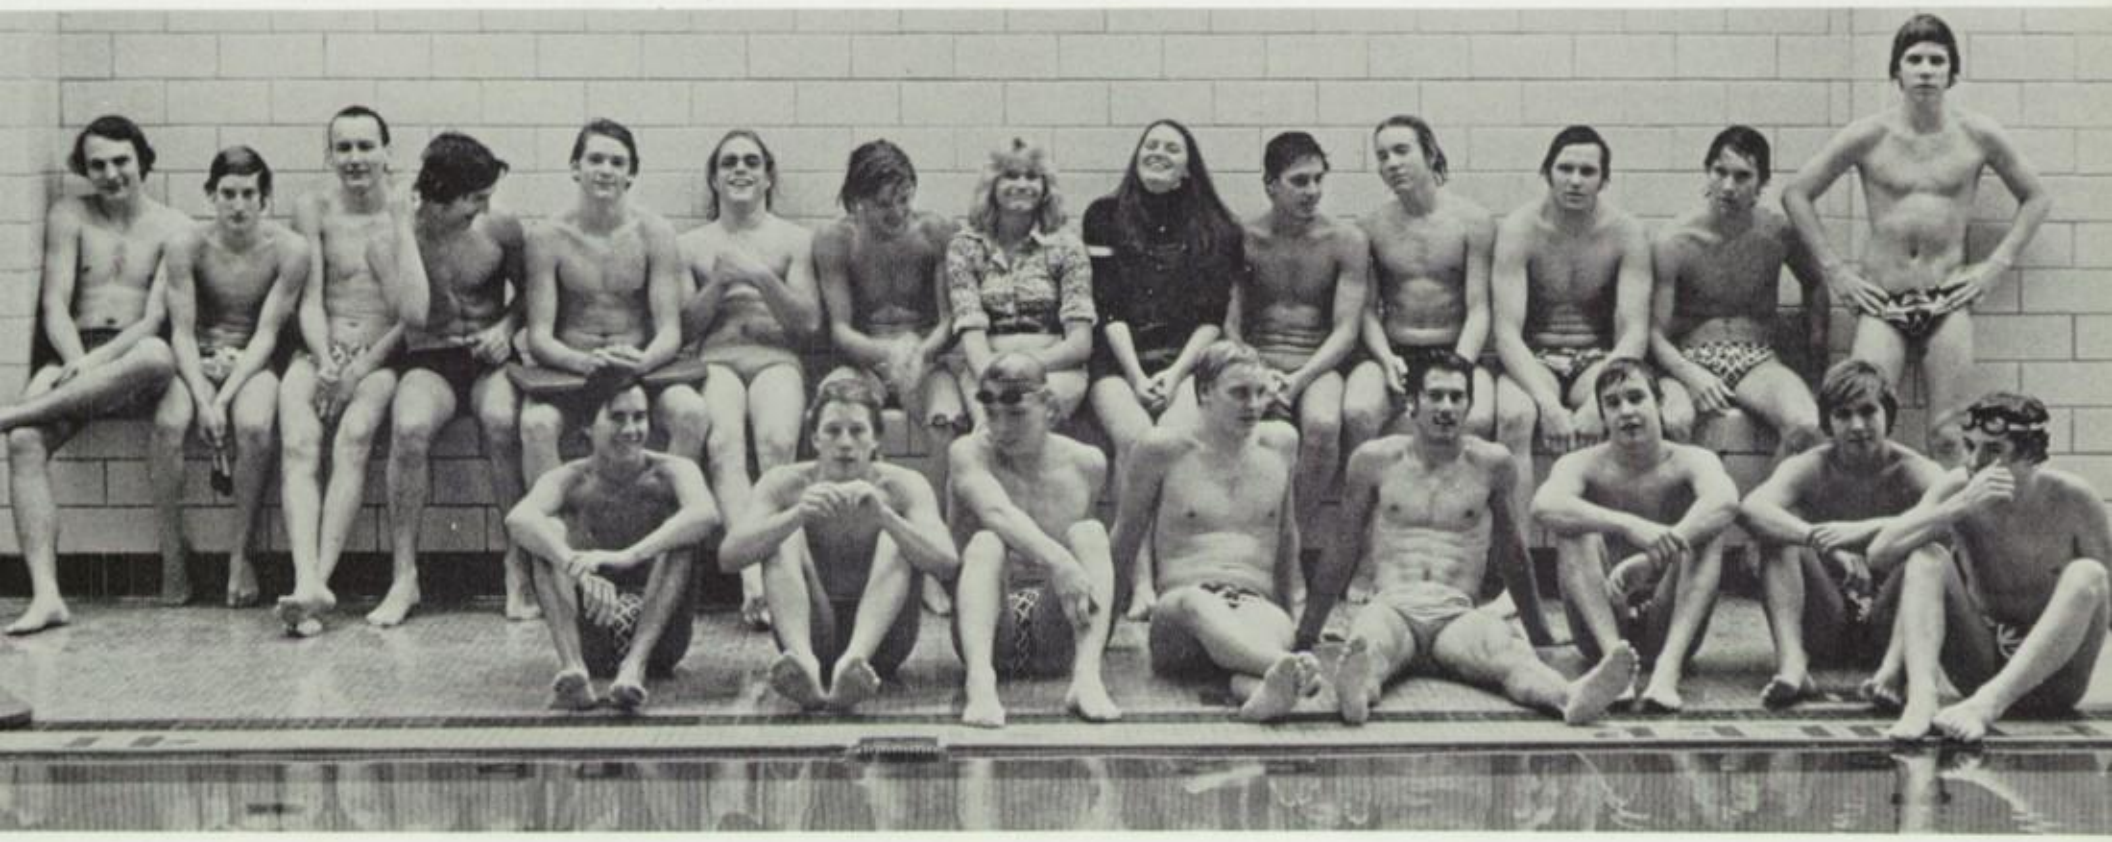
1. Capturing the crowd's attention, Marshall Christmann, senior, displays his excellent form which earned him a first place in the dual meet with South. 2. Brian Singleton, sophomore, proves to be a valuable team member as he competes in the butterfly leg of the IM. 7. Tension mounts for Dan Smith, sophomore, as he awaits the starting gun.



Team volleys to regionals; gymnastics set goals

In the past year, the Girls' Gymnastics Team set three goals: to beat Kapaun-Mt. Carmel, to take second in city, and to go to state as a team. The first became a reality Feb. 3 when the Buffs out performed the Crusaders. The second seemed inevitable as the team built a 5-1 win-loss record plus a second place at the Newton Invitational.

Unlike the fluctuating scores of last year, the gymnasts gave consistent performances.

For the first time, there was a b-team for girls' gymnastics. Mostly beginners at the start of the season, the girls learned superior moves and improved their skills.

Next year a great change will occur in girls' gymnastics. The season will begin in mid-August instead of December. Lack of space and facilities due to conflicting basketball and boys' gymnastics teams made the switch necessary.

After a year of rebuilding, the Girls' Volleyball Team returned in 1975 with an outstanding squad.

Clinching first place in regionals, the team went on to state where they were knocked out in the first round by Shawnee Mission South. In City League action, the Buffs held a 19-4 win-loss record and finished an impressive second place.

At the South Invitational, the team came out on top, but could only manage a third place at the West Invitational. In addition, the Buffs played small schools in the area giving them more competition.

"I look forward to and I am very optimistic about next year," said Coach Mrs. Linda Smith, "Alot of girls will go to summer camps."

Softball, swim teams forecast good seasons

Practices for the Girls' Softball Team started just one month before their first game April 1, at Kapaun-Mt. Carmel. The workouts included many hours of throwing, batting and catching.

For the first year, softball teams in Kansas participated in a state tournament. This was an incentive for the players.

Nine members of last year's team returned to establish a foundation for the Buffs. In all, approximately forty girls tried out.

With only two months of practice before the State Meet, the Girls' Swim Team had the shortest season of all sports. After a fourth place finish last year at the first State Meet, the team held hopes of a higher standing in 1976.

Taking over the coaching position was Mr. Chuck Hatter, who led the boys to a first place in State. Six letterwomen returned along with members of area swim clubs.

Golf squad scores low; netters gain new players

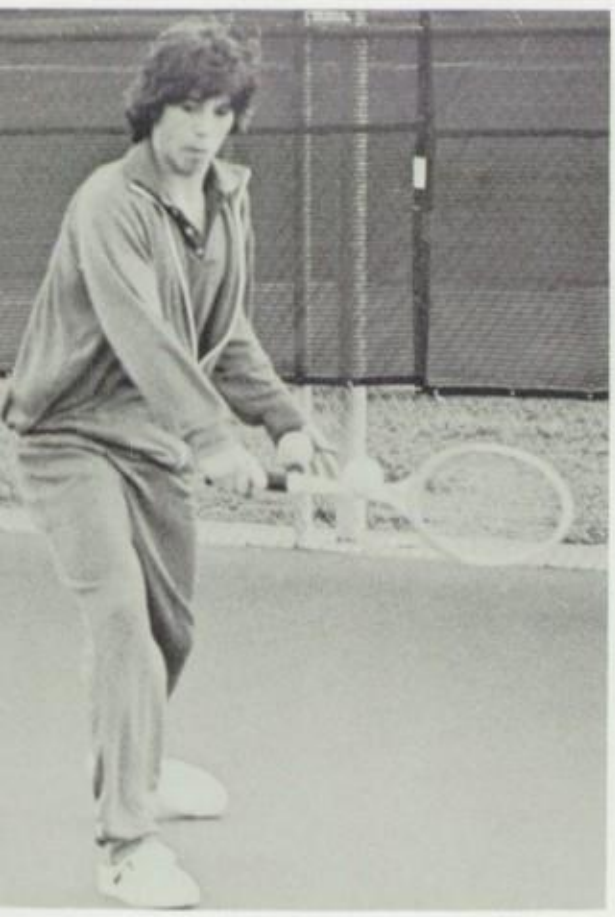
After finishing second to Kapaun-Mt. Carmel last year in the City League, the Golf Team attempted to underscore their biggest rival in 1976 for the City crown.

Top positions were filled by Mike Leach and Scott Rowe, seniors; Doug McNeil, Jon Hall and D.R. Senseman, juniors. The other spots were up for grabs according to Coach Jim Davie.

Two weeks of extra practice due to unusually nice weather aided the Buffs in their bid for victory.

Although graduating three seniors last year, the Tennis Team retained their depth giving them a good chance at first in City. Leading the team were Scott Jabara and Jack Ritchie, seniors; David Thompson, sophomore, and Coleman freshman Adam Beren.

Like past years, the Buff's biggest rival continued to be Kapaun-



Mt. Carmel. This year, however, KMC also lost three varsity players.

Mr. Gerald Kerschen returned to coach the squad. Practices started in early March, but individuals practiced year-round.

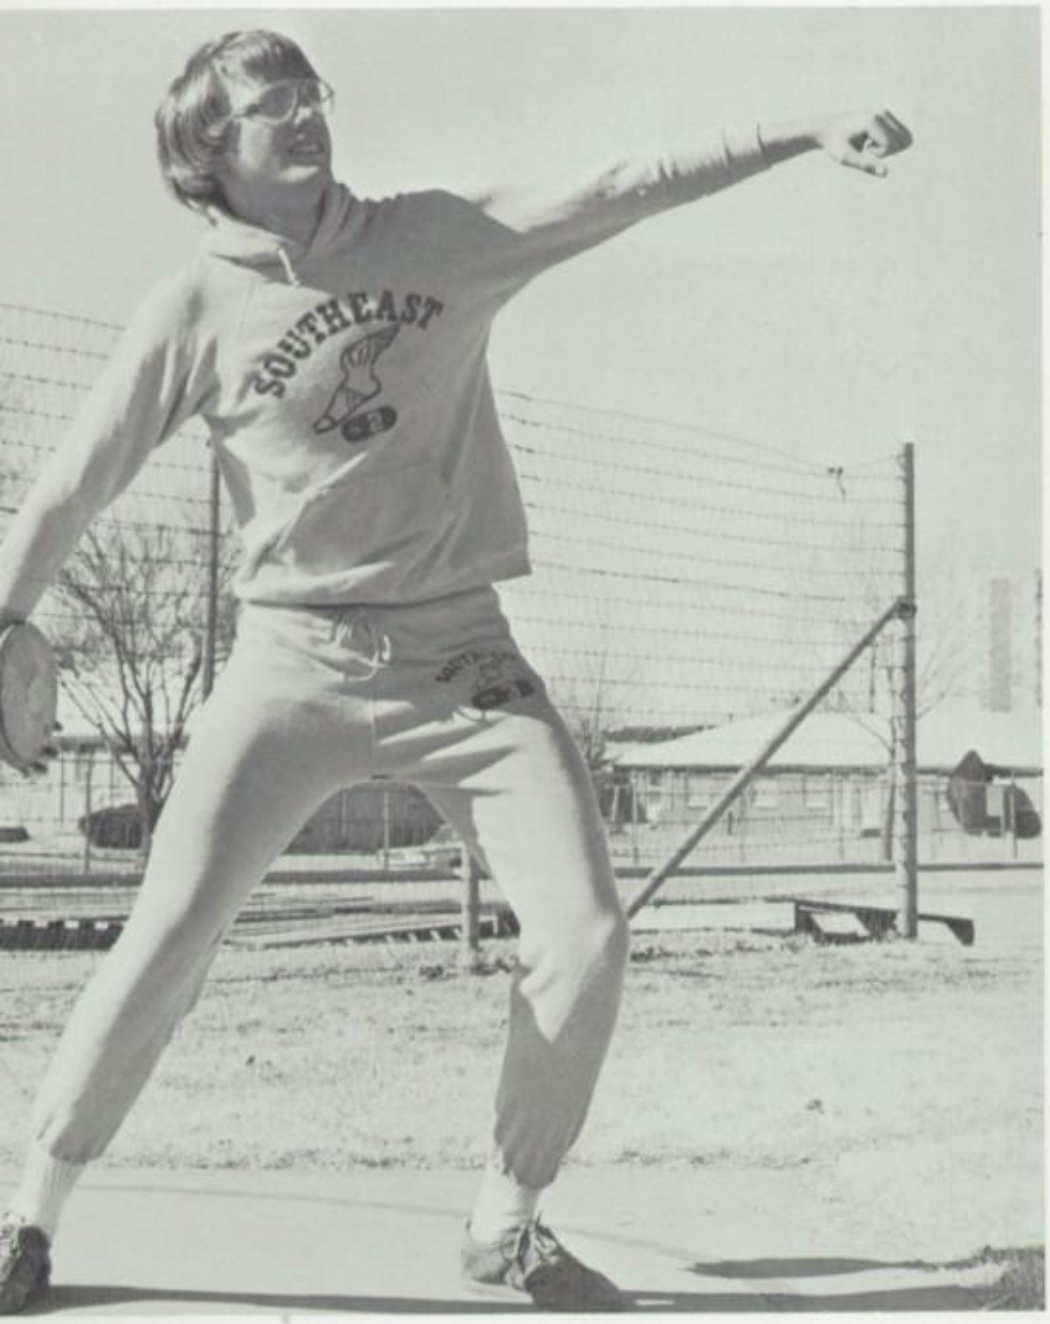
Track, field events sport agility, vigor

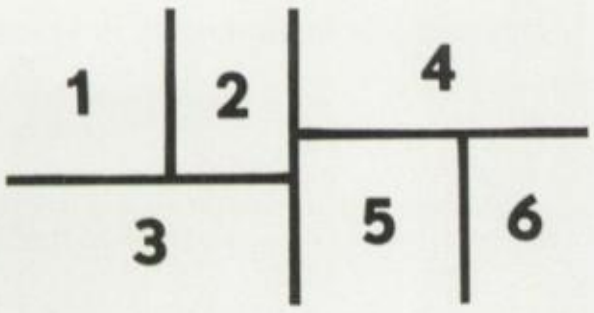
After finishing fifth the last two years, the Boys' Track Team could only hope for better. Strength in the distance events seemed to be the best bet for Coach Harold Brandenburg's tracksters. Juniors Randy Coffey, Jeff Hayes, Tom White and senior Mark Williams headed this department. Dan Massey and Brent Jones, juniors, added spice in the field events with their high jumping ability.

Lack of depth in the sprinting events hurt the team.

Expecting to be equally strong in both track and field events, the Girls' Track Team got off to a slow start due to poor weather conditions. They compensated by running and exercising inside.

Most of the competition in the field events came from smaller schools. Coach Mrs. Linda Smith predicted two shotputters, junior Cheryl Starr and senior Roxe Ann Glasse, and highjumper Jolene Page, senior, would make it to state with a lot of "practice and determination."





1. Senior Bruce Kay hurls the discus during early spring practice. 2. Nice weather permits outdoor workouts with senior Melvin Phillips gliding over a hurdle. 3. Boys' Track Team. Ball club predicts winning year

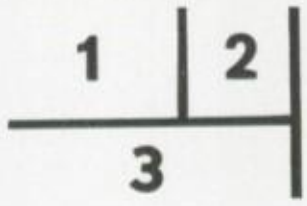
With eight returning lettermen, the Varsity Baseball Team hoped to improve last year's seventh place finish in the City League. Laying big tracks in the Buffs' search for victory were seniors Mark Chase, Toby Paige and Ronn Reynolds. Underclassmen filled the gaps left by graduation, particularly in the pitching department.



1. Junior infielder Terry Payne scoops a grounder in pre-season practice. 2. Coach Jim Deckinger shouts instructions to outfielders before hitting to them. 3. Baseball Team. Class of '76 creates unity within school

Taking advantage of their final opportunity to enjoy high school life, the seniors of 1976 upheld their reputation as the dominant class. Leading the spirit at sporting activities, suffering the drudgery of the ACT the morning after, clinging to that last moment of high school life, stepping off the stage at graduation, gripping the diploma, the memories.

In years to come, a glance, bringing back the warm feelings of unity and friendship will symbolize this year's seniors. Involving themselves in Bicentennial activities, plans were made to have a Spirit of '76 dance. The celebration of our country's 200th birthday served as a foundation for much of the spirit and excitement aroused.

Leading a large group is never easy said Tom Werth, senior class president. "This year's Student Council worked harder than last year's to unify the student body," Tom commented. "We were closer and more people got involved in planning school activities."

Student Council president Greg Franklin said "Each year you challenge yourself to do better." Being around good students of all sizes, races, and capabilities, makes you want to do better, not just for competition, but as a challenge to yourself. This year's seniors showed excitement, but they especially showed their power."

Leaving this school, this life, the class of '76 makes room for another. They in turn will fill places vacated for them. Beginning a new kind of existence, they will remember this year for . . . united we stand.

Awaiting the beginning of the honk parade before Homecoming is queen candidate Susy Satterthwaite, senior.

Juniors: individuals show own talents

Characteristically, a junior must be subordinate yet authoritative; he must be led and at the same time lead. Southeast's class of '77 has shown it has the uncommon ability to fullfill this difficult role.

"It's kind of tough being a junior because you still get bossed around by the seniors, but the sophomores look up to us, so they don't hassle us," said Greg Triplett, junior.

Beginning the 1975-76 school year, the junior class hosted the traditional Junior-Sophomore tea. Using humorous skits to welcome the baby buffs, the junior girls appeared grateful and relieved not to be in the sophomores' shoes. The afternoon ended with a honk parade around the town.

Enthusiasm played a major role even if being a junior meant harder classes and more work. Many still found time to get involved in school related activities. Class members displayed their talents in music and drama. In athletics they led the B-teams and made valuable contributions to the varsity squads. Academically, more juniors participated in the PSAT/NMSQT test than in recent years.

Juniors still found time to relax and reminisce about their seemingly endless school days, only to realize next year would be their last.

Sophomores make difficult transition

Take one innocent sophomore, send him to a giant, sprawling high school full of generally unfriendly upperclassmen and the result is about two weeks of frustration, confusion and humiliation.

Each year sophomores face a situation similar to this at Southeast. The difficult transition is sometimes made easier with the help of the more experienced high-schoolers.

This year school started for sophomores on Aug. 27 a day in which they had the school to themselves for a full eight hours. They attended two assemblies preparing them for the events of the coming year. In the weeks that followed the girls were greeted by the Junior Class with a Sophomore/Junior Tea held at Odie Spitz's. The senior women were next to welcome the baby buffs with the Sophomore/Senior Breakfast at Kristen Olander's.

As school moved along, sophomores found their place in Student Council, electing ten district representatives and their class president, Melanie Potash.

As the year progressed, sophomores became involved in Homecoming, OSOM and the United Fund drive. Interested sophomores volunteered to ring bells in parking lots and shopping centers for the Salvation Army at Christmastime.

After surviving the trials and tribulations of their first high school year, sophomores appeared ready for about anything. When asked what she thought they had accomplished this year, sophomore class president Melanie Potash responded, "Well, we haven't done that much, but we'll be here for two more years."

Principals gain unity

"Students who get involved are going to learn and that is what school is all about," said Dr. Vernon Kirby, principal of Southeast.

After two years of administration at Southeast, Dr. Kirby feels the unity between the administration, faculty and students is far above usual. "I don't think you ever accomplish everything you set out to do, but I feel we have moved a long way," said Dr. Kirby.

Associate Principal Merlin Keely had many responsibilities during the school year. Supervising the office staff, setting up master schedules and working with student teachers involved a lot of his time.

Serving his third term as assistant principal, Mr. Willie Johnson handled many chores. These chores included reading the school bulletin, supervising the athletic director, attendence, elections and fire drills.

Mr. Mel Johnson, who became assistant principal at Southeast two years ago, said that he feels an attempt has been made to open lines of communication between faculty, students, parents and the administration.

Counselors, librarians assist students

When the 3 p.m. bell rings, students are out the door and the Guidance Center is empty.

"Students are not coming in before and after school. They would rather get out of class than come in on their own time," said Mr. Clark Beck, college counselor.

The latest trend, Mr. Beck said, is the popularity of bible colleges.

"More students are becoming interested in social work and military careers," said Mr. Richard Elving, career counselor. "They are also beginning to realize that there are a lot of opportunities in technical occupations."

Vandalism was on the increase this year in the library. Many chairs were slashed and the daily paper was no longer displayed because it was usually destroyed by the end of the day.

Opening before school and early at lunch resulted in the majority of students misusing the library.

"Students here are lucky to have such a well equipped library," said Mrs. Lawrene Buck, new librarian at Southeast this year.

Office staff enjoys work with students

Spending many hours typing, filing and answering phones, the office staff agree that they all enjoy their jobs.

Entering the office, students and faculty receive a warm feeling.

Attendence clerk Lois Jonker feels that being around students is her favorite part of her job.

Mrs. Nadine Rogers, executive secretary, says that working with students is satisfying. She believes that working in the office keeps her from being around students. "I would like to find more time to visit with students and to get to know them better," said Mrs. Rogers.

Treasurer Janie Wilkie said, "Working in school is working with students."

Personnel fights litter

Student cleanliness throughout the year, particularly during the lunch period, was the main issue confronting security, cafeteria workers and the custodial staff this year.

Trash problems increased over previous years and threatened the end of open lunch. Concerned with this privilege, head custodian Jack Lanford said, "The outside lunch program tends to create a problem with the hallways and across the street. Students are not careful about where they put their trash."

"Cafeteria prices have increased due to the cost of living," remarked cafeteria manager Silvia Selman. However, this did not discourage many students from eating there.

Security guards, Judy Brown and Sylvester Wilson, agreed that the litter problems got out of hand. Students were using neighboring yards to smoke and linger around.

"Students shouldn't be there at all while school is in session," said Mr. Wilson. Mrs. Brown expressed her view saying, "Students are more conscientious of security than in the past, although some students do not respect the rights and privileges of others."

HEAST HIGH

Business attracts majority of students

Even though all business classes are electives, a majority of Southeast students enrolled in these courses this year. Enrollment was higher than in past years.

Distributive Education classes successfully put together a creative marketing study for the open lunch program. It provided the Board of Education with an actual profile of open lunch at Southeast.

"Our classes are larger and more students are getting involved, because more jobs are available in the trades we teach," said Mrs. Lavon Clark. "Wichita has been pretty lucky as far as employment is concerned. Some students are not that lucky because they don't have a skill to sell."

English goal: aid writing, give reading background

"Everyone should build a base on which to add more knowledge," commented Mr. Marvin Huffman.

With this in mind, the Language Arts Department strived to teach students language, grammar and literature in everyday, down-to-earth usages. Students also learned the importance of having a good reading background and practiced their writing skills.

Advanced Placement English classes met three days a week. Students spent their independent study time reading and critically examining books.

Math, Sciences offer help for individuals

In this age of increasing space technology and medical breakthroughs, it seemed only natural that enrollment in the science and math classes would go up. Science Department Head, Mr. Marion Hodges, and math teacher Mr. Noland Wallace confirmed this was true at Southeast. Mr. Glenn Clark said the increase in science was due to "the greater amount of freedom in science classes than in others." Students were able to select from a wide variety of courses including three relatively new ones. The Math Department offered analytic geometry and calculus while the Science Department offered Individualized Science Instruction mini course structure," said Mr. Hodges.

Social Studies links with Bicentennial

An emphasis on the Bicentennial was evident in social studies classis this year.

"Our top objective was to enlarge the student's ability to do critical thinking, problem solving and to develop and promote economic and social competency," said Mr. Lee Strieff, department chairman.

Government classes held elections and participated in fake trials. These projects helped students gain knowledge of politics and law proceedings.

History classes attempted to develop a definition of the true meaning of America.

Language, art classes emphasize skills, talents

Frènch students organized a Christmas Banquet for all the foreign language classes. German Band provided entertainment.

Participating in German Field Day, a state-wide contest of German skills, German students recited poetry, prose, plays and sang songs.

Commercial Design classes had many projects this year including silk screen Christmas cards and handprinted screen fabric.

Students in special art production prepared portfolios for scholarships. Many of the art students participated in the scholastics competition.

This spring students worked on a bicentennial portfolio. They took twelve great ideas that inspired American leaders and illustrated them to sell on a professional level.

Fine Arts feature concerts, plays

Practicing formations and playing marching band music, took up the first half of the school year for Concert Band.

Performing at various concerts, for special requests and Choralesque, involved many extra hours for Stageband.

In vocal music, "many moods of Christmas" was performed with the Orchestra for Christmas Vespers. Choralesque had an emphasis on the Bicentennial.

"We were striving for high quality performance and basic concepts of music education," said Mr. Vernon Nicholson.

Under the direction of the new drama teacher, Mr. David Omar, drama students learned new aspects of the theater.

Students learned how to produce drama from the technical angle and built their own sets instead of leaving it up to the Art Department.

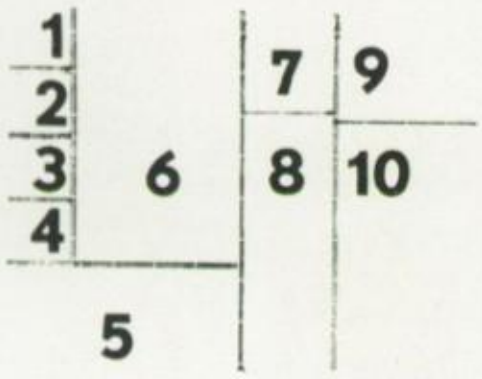
Juniors, Sherri Brane and Brent Giessman, rehearse their lines for a scene in drama. 10. David Omar.

Home Economics interests both sexes

In Home Economics classes this year, students learned how to use creativity in food preparation. They were taught how to plan meals and about nutrition. Students also obtained knowledge of kitchen planning, cleanliness, new nutrition labeling, use of microwave ovens and the use and care of appliances.

"It is not unusual to see a guy in the Home Ec. classes. Over half of the Foods 1 class this year is composed of boys," said Mrs. Doris Mayhew.

Occupations kept busy this year with coffee and candy shops, a restaurant, a day care center and a Christmas party for a children's home. By simulating actual situations, HERO pursued its goal of "introducing students to the world of work," said instructor Mrs. Coleen Haehn.



1. Verna Buchanan. 2. Coleen Haehn. 3. Doris Mayhew. 4. Gene Pepperkorn. 5. Before preparing food in cooking class, students must gather the needed utensils. 6. Industrial courses prove useful Preparing for various occupations, students took courses in Auto Mechanics, Auto Information, Drafting, Metals and Woodworking.

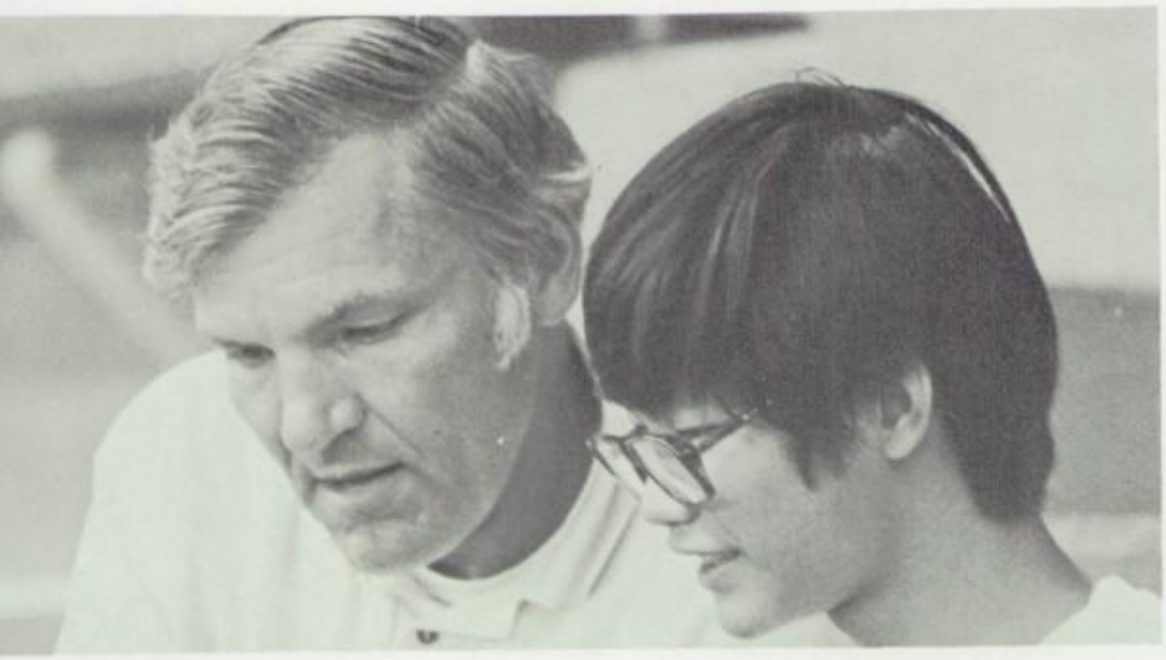
In Auto Information, students learned basic knowledge of automobile systems. With today's high prices, Auto Mechanics and Auto Information are valuable after high school when something goes wrong with the car.

Woodworking students learn to use special tools and techniques involved in working with wood. They also study kinds of woods and their proporties.

"After taking these courses, students are able to decide what they want for occupations," said Mr. Corwin Vanderford.

Examining car engine parts in Auto Mechanics is a general part of class study for Greg Lovendahl, senior, and Alvin Barton, junior.



P.E. offers variety of coed classes

Effective during second semester, all Physical Education classes were co-ed except for honors P.E.

"Our budget is adequate, but our co-ed space indoors is inadequate during the winter, like everybody else we could use more teaching stations," said Mr. Harold Brandenburg.

Co-ed activities included all non-contact sports, except for basketball, which was revised.

"Anything new will have kinks to work out and problems to face, but everything in life is co-ed, so this was nothing new," said Mrs. Linda Smith.

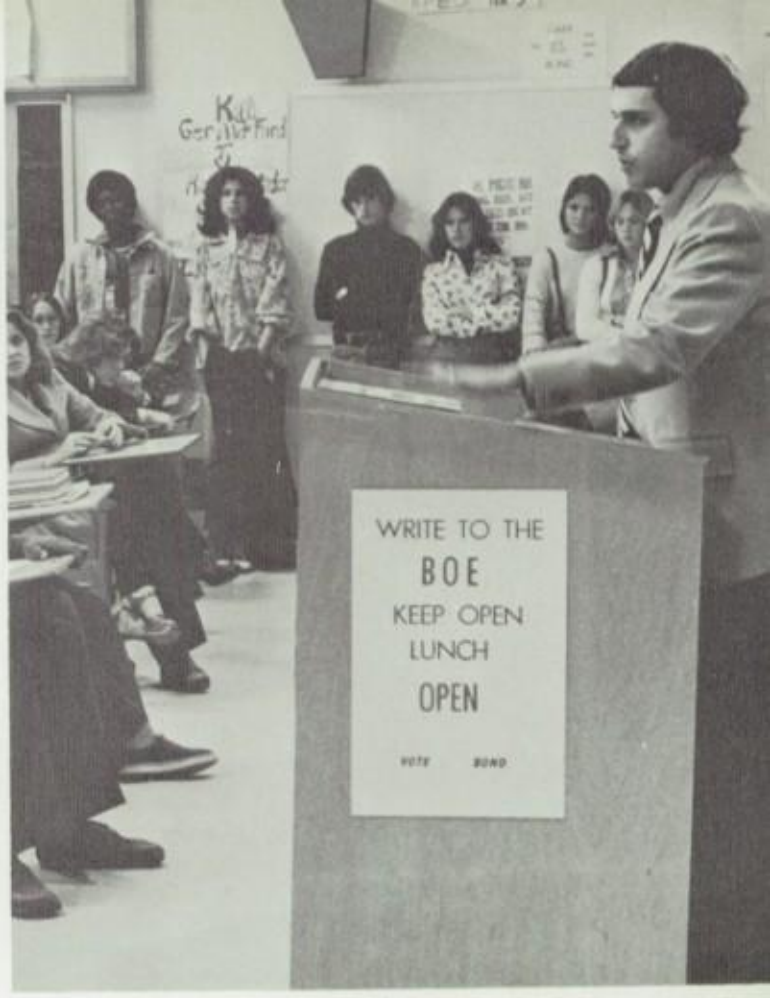
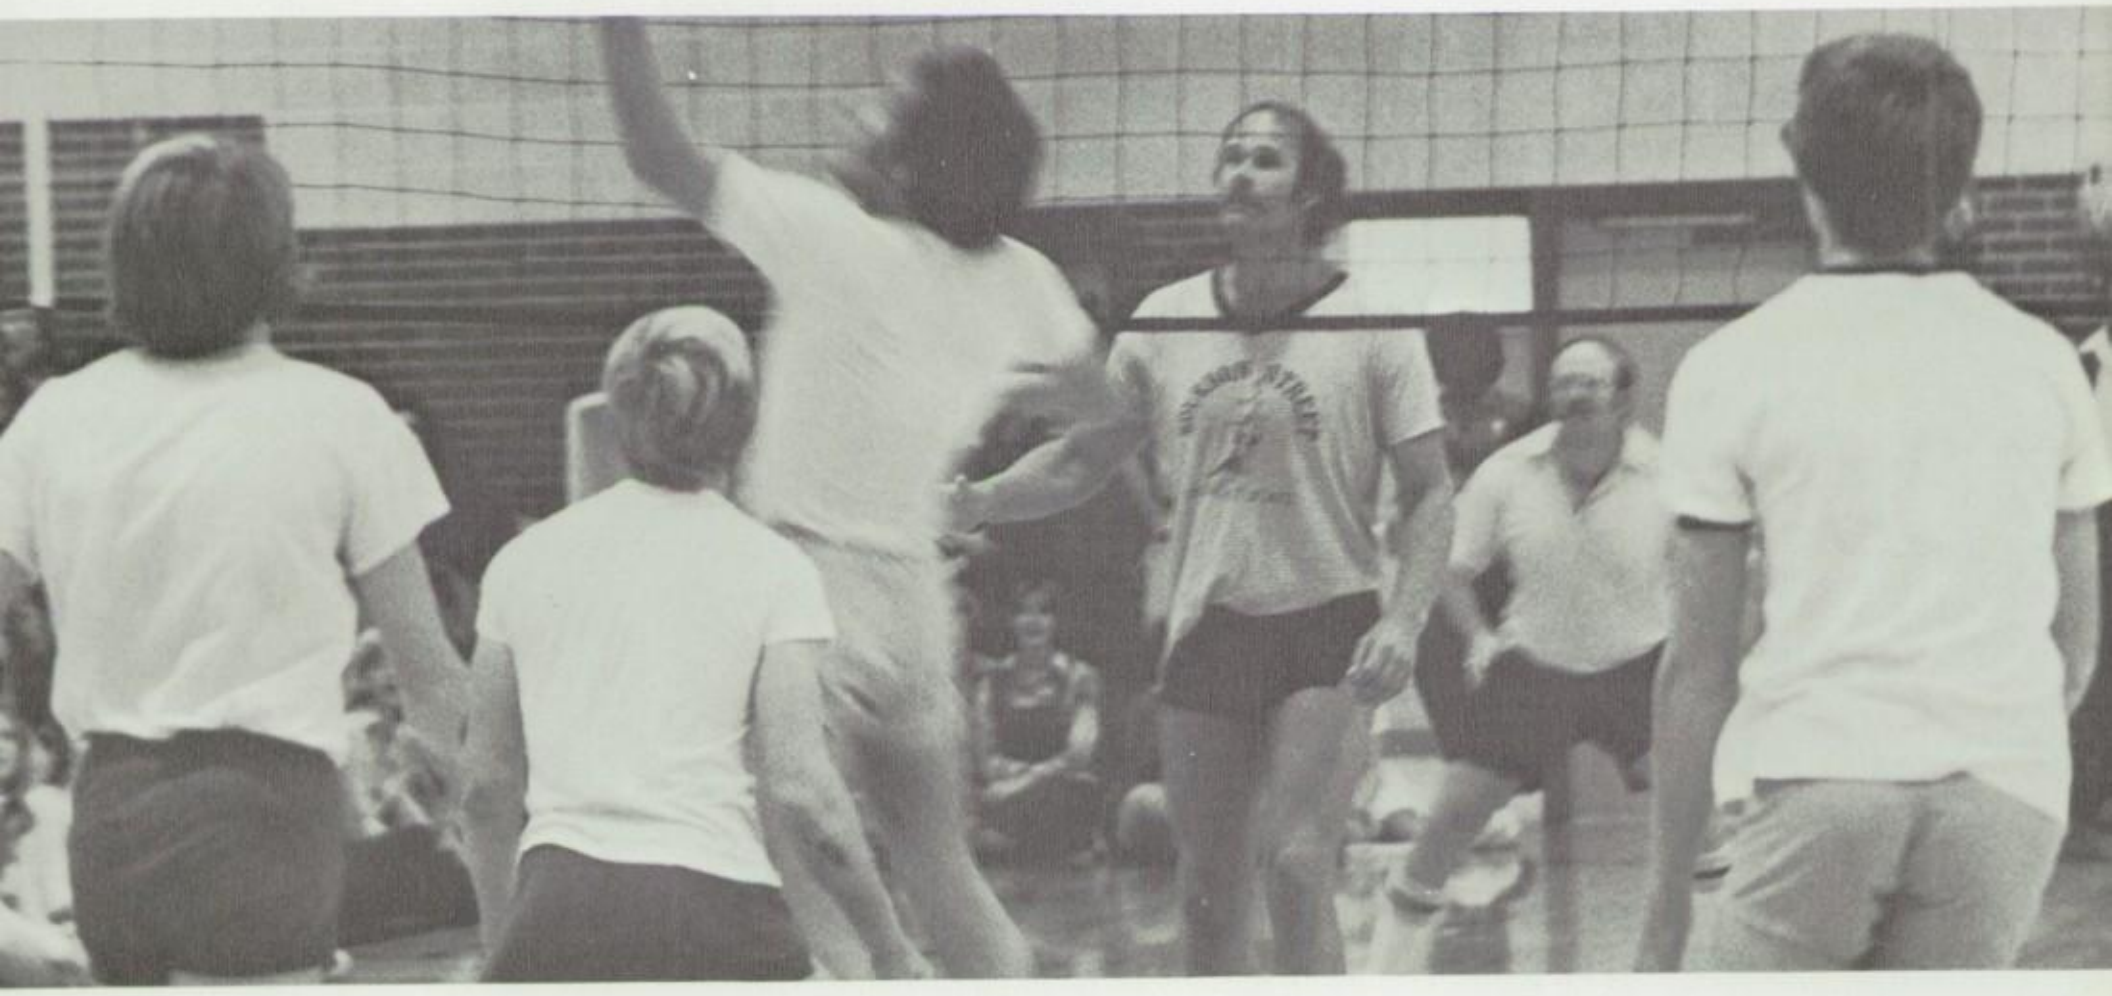
Students work on council projects

Student government is serious business. Policies and actions considered by the Southeast student council were not small matters. The council, headed by President Greg Franklin and Vice-president Cheryl Copenhaver, considered many subjects, including the loss of open lunch priveleges, student smoking on campus and homecoming float competition.

"Student Council is not an easy or fun job," said Franklin. "Some people get in just for popularity and then drop out because it involves more responsibility than they are prepared to handle."

Southeast has the smallest Council in the city with only 11 representatives from each class. Along with class presidents, sophomore Melanie Potash, junior Steve Raymond and senior Tom Werth, Franklin and Miss Copenhaver.





worked to organize the students.

The major problem they confronted was their inability to communicate with their constituents. "I don't know whether it was apathy on the part of the students or a bad presentation on the part of the Council, but we couldn't get any response from them on our ideas," said Senior Council member Jim Bloom.

In OE, DE students employ skill

Taking advantage of the opportunity for practical, on the job training, 39 students enrolled in the Office and Distributive Education classes.

DE members entered statewide contests. Instructor Michael Hockett said, "I can't say we're second to no one, but in two years we've established a good program here at Southeast."

Students spend one-and-a-half hours in a morning class combined with a three hour job stint in the afternoon. In addition, they work on club projects before first hour begins.

The future jobholders worked as bookkeepers, clerks in department stores, secretaries at insurance companies, waitresses in restaurants and at many other occupations.

Helping students gain responsibility, Mr. Hockett said, "I like proving to myself and to the students that they are capable of doing more than they think possible."

OE teacher Mrs. Linda Morgan explained her purpose saying, "I want the students to perform, to be where they want to be at the end of the year."

Career clubs investigate opportunities

Organized at the beginning of the school year, the nationwide club, Future Homemakers of America, began a chapter at Southeast. It originated to offer students leadership in new areas. The club worked with the community learning and helping individuals.

During second semester club sponsor Mrs. Doris Mayhew elected four officers in each of her classes.

"It was kind of an adventure when we started out. We had a good group of students and that helped the club get off the ground," said Mrs. Mayhew.

HERO stands for Home Economics Related Occupations. The classes study the jobs offered in home economics. Second year students received credit for their outside jobs which related to the fields of foods, clothing and day care services.

With a membership composed of students planning to enter the medical field or to gain knowledge of it, the Future Medical Careers Club provided activities to aid its members in their quest.

Planning events for the club was Kyle Zimmer, president. He organized Southeast's Rockers who participated in the Rock-a-Thon. It was held at Towne East Square in January in an effort to raise money for the national March of Dimes organization. The group gathered more contributions than any other High school club participating in the event. They also ran the annual Red Cross blood program. During the drive students could donate blood.

Thespians, Debaters, acquire skills in speaking

Arguing both sides of the topic used nationwide, the Debate Teams competed first semester. The issue this year was Resolved: That the development and allocation of scarce world resources should be controlled by an international organization.

Novice debaters Wes Alden, junior and Bruce Kay, senior, earned their only first place trophy at the Augusta Tournament. Alden and Robyn Cochran, junior were awarded a second place trophy at Wichita West for their efforts.

Experienced debaters competed in two tournaments at Pittsburg, where they won the sweepstakes award for the best teams. They placed fourth at Regionals, barring them from State competition.

Members who earned 25 points in various speaking events, joined the National Forensic League. Three third year debaters attained 250 points: Tom Werth, Rob Uhland and Beatrice Adams, all seniors.

Thespians are a group of drama students who have earned a minimum of 10 points by participating in school and community theater.

In March, the modern version of the play 'Antigone' was presented. The group also made plans to sponsor a junior high workshop to interest prospective members in high school drama. Other activities included selling carnations for OSOM and presenting plays for the Wichita Children's Theater.

Officers elected for 1975-1976 were Vicki Durrington, president; Susan Denny, vice-president; Nathan Bloch, treasurer; and Chris Palmquist, secretary.

Publication staffs fuse talent; ideas

Lacking the practical experience, but not basic yearbook knowledge, the 1975-'76 Hoofbeats staff met for planning sessions during the summer. The editors and some staff members attended workshops at Kansas State University in Manhattan and Bethany College in Lindsborg, Kansas.

Under the guidance of new adviser Ms. Mary Beth Grange, the staff constructed the new yearbook step by step, gaining confidence.

Meeting one deadline after another, the pages fell into place. The finished product generated a feeling of pride among the students who had worked on it.

With seniors Jim Bloom and Mark Cummings serving as Stampede co-editors, the newspaper published its first issue Sept. 19.

Unlike the yearbook, the staff was experienced, but it was small.

The paper concentrated on covering school news and printed picture pages when space and finances permitted. Rising printing costs limited the bi-weekly paper to six pages except for the Christmas and Senior issues.

Editorially, the paper spoke out on vandalism, the new attendance policy and local issues.

"We attempted to get the Stampede so that it was an interesting paper, not just something that the students ran through to see if their picture was in it. Whether we have suceeded or not is questionable," said Mark Cummings, co-editor.

Photogs, journalists devote time

Familiar to almost everyone at Southeast because of their presence at most activities are the photographers. Better known around C-1 as photogs, they shot, developed, contacted and printed pictures for the newspaper and yearbook. They managed to get the job done after pressure from the editors and staying in at lunch, after school and on Saturdays.

Head photographer Mike Fizer, Dragan Djuric and Rick Linhardt attended a summer journalism workshop at Kansas State University, Manhattan in June.

Photography Club invited speakers to instruct on the construction and use of different cameras. They also learned to take, develop and print pictures. Sponsors of the club were Mr. Marvin Huffman and Mr. Billy Scherich.

Eleven students became members of Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society. They joined the nine old members and were initiated at a ceremony at Wichita High School Heights. Speaker at the event was Cleve Matthews, Chairman of the Wichita State University Journalism Department. A reception for parents and friends was held in the Heights cafeteria after the initiation.

Clubs create interest, involvement

Trying to revise a popular club of the 50's and 60's, was the Southeast Pep Club. The club was organized for those girls who did not belong to the other spirit organizations but wanted a way to support the teams.

The members included sophomores, juniors and seniors. Senior Brenda Guice was elected president of the club. During the first semester they decorated lockers for the girls' sports and sold balloons at football games to raise money.

The group concentrated on girls sports and junior varsity and sophomore football teams leaving the well promoted boy's varsity sports to the other spirit groups.

"Although the Pep Club was very small, the girls who remained in it had a lot of spirit," said Miss Guice.

Events vary for foreign dialect clubs

Over 30 students were attracted to French Club membership. Sponsored by Mrs. Helen Hageman, the club met once a month after school. Fund-raising activities included perfume and swiss chocolate sales. Highlighting the year was the 'Mardi Gras Fete', an annual event. The singing of French songs, can-can dancing by male members and the crowning of a king and queen from candidates selected for each hour proved entertaining.

Several students participated in the International Dinner for area language clubs in December. In addition, the club took a big part in the planning of the Southeast Foreign Language Dinner before the winter holidays. Senior members Diane Norton and Debbie Darmon sang French carols and a skit was presented to the others.

With two other Wichita high school clubs, the Southeast German Club celebrated the Munich Octoberfest. Eating German food and singing native folk songs was combined with dancing.

In September the first formal get-together was held at the home of Sponsor Mr. Marlin Shrag. At the initiation party new members were required to push gummy bears across carpeted floors and bob for apples.

Club officers were senior Larry Daggett, president; junior Erin McMichael, vice-president; senior Jim Mayer, treasurer; and junior Alisa Clark, secretary. They organized money making projects to support their many activities.

Because of the holidays, December was the busiest month with the club having a tree decorating party using candles and gingerbread men.

A Friday evening was spent caroling for German families in Southeast Wichita. The club also participated in the school Language Club Christmas Party.

For the first time in many years, there was not a formal Spanish Club. Mainly an organization of Spanish II and III students, the group was headed by the only returning member junior Erin Ferrell.

Together the students participated in various dinners including the Language Club Christmas Party. The traditional Mexican ceremony walk of Christmas was their entertainment for the audience.

Highlighting the year was the arrival of Mexican exchange students from Tlalnepantla, Mexico. Along with North High School, Southeast hosted over 20 students in order that the sister cities might grow closer. Many of the hosts had spent two weeks in June living with the same students in Mexico.

Sophomore music groups participate in contest

The 120 members of the Sophomore Choir found it a challenge to combine musical knowledge and ability obtained in junior high to form a fine choral sound.

Singing in the fall concert, Christmas Vespers, and at city and state contests, the underclassmen gained experience in applying their talents while progressing throughout the year.

"Although I had to keep after them, they came along real fine and performed very well at contest," said director Mr. Vernon Nicholson.

Also performing in contests were the Sophomore Mixed Ensemble and girls Ensemble. These select groups worked primarily on perfecting their skills in preparation for their junior and senior years.

Madrigals, Choraleers perform at concerts

Carrying on the tradition of having one of the top singing groups in the state were the Choraleers, directed by Mr. Vernon Nicholson. Performing all over the city, a trip to Colorado Springs, Colorado was also on the agenda.

Choralesque climaxed the choir's functions, featuring a Bicentennial theme. Select students participated in the musical highlighting the year "The Fantasticks."

According to senior Choraleer president Don Ziegler, "The situation at the beginning of the year wasn't too good because Choraleers was divided into two groups: juniors and seniors. But working together enabled people to get to know each other as the year progressed."

Combining choreography with music was the method used by the Madrigals in luring attentive audiences. Requests for their appearance were abundant as the group performed for various schools and clubs.

Senior Mark Vandeventer said, "Singing all over the city was really fun, even though the many performances wear us out a little. But without Mr. Nicholson we would not be the group we are."

October 21 was the date of the annual Madrigals Invitational, held in addition to the Madrigal-Junior Miss Formal Dec. 18 at the Wichita Art Association. An occasional dinner or party made the numerous performances much more welcome.

Choral groups' practice evident

Presenting music to enthralled listeners, the Boy's Ensemble never failed to brighten up a performance. Captivating expressiveness in their numbers seemed to be the entertainers' trademark.

"We enjoy the performances the most because that's when the work pays off. Most of the guys really get into the music, making it more fun to do," said Scott Wells, junior.

Participating in all school concerts as well as in various social gatherings, the Junior Misses were kept on a busy schedule. Initiating their eventful appearances was the Junior Miss Invitational in October, in which much time and hard work were demanded, fun was also to be had at slumber parties and kidnappings.

"The extra hour of class is really worth it. It's a lot of fun and we all get along great," said Junior Miss Pam Oxenreider, senior.

Musicians entertain students

Girls Choir was formed for singers without a vocal background and was used in building for future groups. Performing in the fall concert and Christmas Vespers, the choir was under the leadership of Mrs. Wanda Rose, a first semester substitute. Mr. Steve Peter occupied the position for the remainder of the year.

Playing all types of music from Beethoven's "war horses" to a lighter variety, the Orchestra performed in school concerts and in city and state contests. Mr. Steve Luttrell conducted the musicians in forming one of the more prestigious orchestras in the state.

"The biggest reason for our success was Mr. Luttrell. He really made us work but made sure we enjoyed what we were doing," said junior Debbie Decker.

Music initiates involvement

With excitement as their trademark, the Southeast Stage and Pep Bands supported their school while entertaining the public throughout the 1975-76 school year. The Pep Band provided their spirited musical additions at pep assemblies and basketball games. The Stage Band gave numerous concerts and played at Choralesque, Southeasts' annual musical variety production.

"Our Stage Band is very balanced this year," said Mr. Steve Luttrel, director. "We've got lots of strong, seasoned players."

Luttrel also commented on the marked improvement over last year's Stage Band.

"We hope to attend the Wichita Jazz Festival," he continued,"It's one of the top three festivals in the country."

Marching Band executes new routine

Under the direction of Mr. Steve Luttrell, the Marching Band traveled to Kansas City, where they performed at halftime for Sub-State Regional Football Playoffs. For the first time, the band and Pom Pon Girls united to make a formation.

Using previous marching and drum and bugle corps experience, senior Don Pagel, drum major, led the band through their routines.

At the conclusion of marching season, the Marching Band converted to Concert Band They spent the rest of the year performing concerts and participated in City and State Music Contests at the end of the year.

Performers provide acts at half-time

Looking forward to performing in college, Sally Hobble and Joyce Steinberg, seniors, commenced the third and final year of their twirling with the Golden Buffalo Marching Band. Both have been participating in the sport for five years.

"It is a little scary, but you're moving too fast to notice, it's also a little cold. The stadium lights can really bother us, if we look up they'll blind us just long enough to lose track of our batons."

So goes the life, the ups and downs of a Southeast twirler, says Joyce. Unlike past years, the girls decided to do separate routines which allow them to express themselves and show the stunts they like best.

Moving together in time but a much larger group, the Pom Pon Girls again came out with a precision drill team representative of Southeast.

Under the supervision of Miss Wanda McCasky, the group of 35 junior and senior girls performed at sporting events during the half-time activities. Fund-raising projects included a carwash, a garage sale, and football and basketball booster button sales.

High-spirited groups cater to crowds

Uniting together to promote spirit were the 1975-1976 Banner Girls and Cheerleaders.

Under the leadership of head Banner Girl Pam Burghardt, senior, the squad supported all major and minor male athletic events by decorating lockers, baking cookies, and even teepeeing homes.

"This year's Banner Girls were a very close-knit group and I think we've accomplished a great deal. Our main objective is to support all minor as well as the major sports," said Vicki Schoenberg, Banner Girl.

Boosting the fans in cheers, were the energetic Cheerleaders. The varsity squad, under the direction of Jo Ann Randall and Susy Satterthwaite, led cheers for the varsity sports, while the "B" team and sophomore squads cheered at junior varsity and sophomore games.

Before varsity games through the year, the cheerleaders were seen in the halls selling buttons to promote unity and school spirit in which they were very successful.

1. Putting on skits for the sophomore class was part of the fun for cheerleaders Lori Barr and Ann Metz, juniors. 2. Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. Left to right- Marlene Spencer, Tami Kouri, Laurie Coughenour, Ann Metz, Tracy Jabara, Leslie Lewis, Karen Goodman, and Terri Stiff. 3. Banner Girls. Bottom row left to right- Debbie Potash, Elaine Gunzelman, Vicki Schoenberg, Salli Wheeler, Melinda Leslie and Cinda Walker. Middle row left to right- Becky Armstrong, Allison Tracy, Kathy McClintock, Pam Burghardt and Kim Gatz. Top row- Kelley Stewart and Christie Walsh. 4. Cheerleaders take advantage of the warm fall weather to practice outside. 5. Susy Satterthwaite,leads a cheer during the Hutchinson-Southeast game. 6. Varsity Cheerleaders. Left to right- Sherrie Watson, Brenda Vossburg, Sherri Brane, Jo Ann Randall, Susy Satterthwaite, Susie Padgett, Lori Barr, and Liz Wright. 7. Revealing mixed emotions at the game action are Banner Girls Christie Walsh and Vicki Schoenberg.

Unity: a personal commitment

As Southeast closes its doors on another year we notice it remains essentially unchanged. The majority of the faculty, the building and equipment are the same. What does make this year different than any other, however, is the students. The ever-changing face of the student body makes each year at Southeast unique.

In this book we have dealt with the subject of unity. We have approached various aspects: groups, classes, teams, staff and organizations. In closing, we wish to approach the concept from another angle.

As each of us leave Southeast in May, either to attend college, embark on a career or to return in the fall, we become a part of the perpetual change. Therefore, we must be aware of the need for a personal unity within ourselves.

We must strive to coordinate our thoughts, actions and ideas to reach specific goals. Personal unity is the most valuable asset we can draw from our school experience. When school spirit, team competition and clubs are no longer relevant to us, this unity of character, along with our education will be a valuable weapon against a complex, turbulent world.

Unity, then, is an important experience for each of us. It is not merely a group of people dependent upon each other. True unity is found on the individual level, each person confident of their own ideas and goals, striving to better the world.
